FEDERAL OFFICER STARTS FIGHT ON LUMBER TRUST

San Francisco Grand Jury Begins Work On Evidence

SECRET PLEDGES

Charged Against Retailers and Jobbers of Pacific Coast

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—The federal grand jury began today an investigation into the Pacific Coast lumber trade, on the request of John W. Preston, United States attorney, who charges that the producers, jobbers and retailers of the coast are parties to agreements in restraint of trade under the Sherman anti-trust act. That the investigation will be a sweeping probe and would result in indictments was the statement made today by Preston.

"I am convinced," said Preston "that the lumber interests in this state and Oregon and Washington are guilty of illegal practices in the marketing of their product. I feel that I have a clear case against them. Investigations disclose that, beginning with the retailers, there are wheels within wheels in this lumber monopoly."

Preston specifically charged that the retailers of San Francisco, Oakland and Sacramento have secret agreements controlling prices and as local organizations belong to a federation extending at least throughout California.

San Francisco retailers, whose names were not made public, were summoned to appear before the grand jury today, as the first step in the government's probe.

Other Monopolies

Preston later announced that he has pending investigations into at least a score of alleged Pacific coast monopolies.

With the United States attorney cross-examining the witnesses, the government's probe into the rise in the price of sugar continued before the grand jury today.

Preston will bring before them tomorrow evidence against the so-called fish "trust."

Dealer Testifies.

Among today's witnesses was James H. Hardy, an independent retail dealer, whose testimony tended to show that there is an association of wholesale dealers and an association of retail dealers, both having membership in a common organization alleged to be in existence for the purpose of making prices.

The government's probe into the rise in the price of sugar was brought to a close today as far as the taking of testimony is concerned, the final witness being Charles F. Leege, a director in a Honolulu refinery company. The district attorney said tonight that he expects no indictments to be returned here as a result of the investigation. An investigation into the methods of the so-called "fish trust" will be undertaken by the grand jury tomorrow.

MARSHALL SAYS WILSON TO RUN

Vice-President Warns Other Democratic Candidates Out of Field

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—A published statement by Vice-President Marshall declaring that President Wilson would run for re-election in 1916, and would be the unanimous choice of his party aroused wide interest in congressional circles today, but White House officials refused to make any comment.

In Democratic circles, however, it is taken for granted that the President will be a candidate, although it was stated that so far as is known he has not given the question any personal attention.

The renomination of several senators and representatives who have supported the President on the Panama tolls, the Mexican and other questions have encouraged Democratic campaign managers. In this connection particular attention was paid today to the nomination of Representative Hardwick for senator from Georgia. The praise of the President's Mexican policy in several of the Democratic state platforms recently also has been received with pleasure by the President's adherents.

The Vice President's statement is a discussion of the Democratic outlook. The portion referring to the President reads:

"The Democratic party will have but one candidate for President in 1916 and his name happens to be Woodrow Wilson. He will have the entire and unqualified and united support of his party. Fair minded Democrats will recognize that he is entitled to a chance for a second term to prove the utility of his policies.

"Lightning rods already up may as well be taken down and preserved for future use. Democratic lightning will not strike a rod in 1916."

Austrians Give Up Lemberg to Russian Army

NISH, Servia, via London, Sept. 2, 2:15 p. m.—An official statment issued today gives new and fuller details of the battle of Jadar. The Austrian force, it says, was composed of 240,000 man, and held a favorable position. By its retreat, it admitted defeat. The Austrians left on the field of battle 10,000 dead and more than 2000 wounded, according to the report.

"Altogether," continues the statement," forty thousand of the enemy were placed hors de combat. We have sent to the interior more than 4000 men whom we took prisoners and have captured sixty guns, much ammunition, the material for the construction of a 600 metre bridge, and a train.

"The battle was of great importance, because it was decisive. The enemy retreated to Santzek."

ROME, Sept. 2, via London, 8:28 a. m.—The Giornale d'Italia publishes a despatch from Vienna saying that the Austrian government has made arrangements for the evacuation of Lemberg, Galicia.

Lemberg is the capital of Galicia. Recent despatches have described it as invested by Russian troops and reports from St. Petersburg have declared that the "iron ring" around Lemberg was being drawn closer and closer.

French and German Aviators Fight in the Sky Over Paris

PARIS, Sept. 2, 11:20 p. m.—A fight in the air over Paris took place this evening. Three German aeroplanes hovered over the capital and immediately two French machines were sent up to engage. Meanwhile rifles and machine guns mounted on public buildings kept up a constant fire. By this means, one of the German machines became separated from the others and the French aviators flew swiftly in its direction. The Germans opened fire, to which the Frenchmen replied vigorously.

The engagement seemed to turn to the disadvantage of the Germans, who mounted speedily to a higher level, and, holding this position, was saved from further attack. He finally disappeared in a northwest direction over Fort Romanville, after a vain pursuit.

The other German aeroplanes also escaped the fire of the guns and after circling about for a considerable time, disappeared from view.

Italian Socialists Reject Advances of the Germans

ROME, via Paris, Sept. 2-3, 3:15 p. m.—The Italian Socialists now have published a protest against what they describe as an attempt against the dignity of Italy. They also express the hope that if a cessation of hostilities is impossible, the "infamous war will crush those who provoked it."

Zeppelin Airships Drops More Bombs Into Antwerp

ANTWERP, Sept. 2, via London, 8:17 p. m.—The following official statement concerning the maneuvers of the Zeppelin airship over Antwerp last night and early today, was issued tonight:

"A Zeppelin airship was reported at 10:30 o'clock last night near the forts to the south of the city and also near the River Nethe. It passed over Alost, toward Termonde and Ghent and then returned toward Antwerp and tried to fly over the city, but for a time a heavy artillery fire kept it outside the outer fortifications.

"At 3 o'clock this morning, five or six bombs were dropped from it. Later seven bombs were dropped in the Parc du Rosignol, close to some houses which have been converted into hospitals and which were flying the Red Cross flag. These houses were damaged and ten or twelve persons slightly wounded. After the bomb dropping exploits, the Zeppelin rose and disappeared in the direction of Malines.

"An examination of the bombs thrown showed that they had a thin double covering, the two covers being joined together with mushroom-shaped rivets, which act the part of bullets and are liable to cause terrible injury when the covers are burst by the explosion. They are similar to those used by the Bonnett motorcar bandits in France.

"This morning, the Belgian authorities conducted the United States consul to the Red Cross buildings which were struck by bombs, that he might see the extent of the damage done. King Albert also visited the buildings this morning."

UNIONS AND LOSS OF INDUSTRIES

Discussed Before Industrial Commission—Last Hearing Today

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—Efforts of the Federal Industrial Relations commission today to learn from witnesses if working conditions which organized labor has brought about in the ship building industry here have resulted in a loss of business developed conflicting answers.

Sam J. Eva, a local ship builder, declared that local ship builders had lost at least thirty-five contracts, totalling about $18,000,000, because they could not compete with eastern builders, who enjoy a longer working day.

"And the local bids were made on the basis of exchanging old dollars for new ones, merely to keep the plants busy," he added.

Eva has had several differences with labor organizations regarding working conditions in his plant.

On the other hand, John A. McGregor, another ship builder, said he did not believe that in the long run working conditions here had much to do with the loss or gain of business. Efficiency in local ship yards, he insisted, was much higher than in many eastern yards where longer hours are worked.

Both Mr. Eva and James Tyson, a lumberman who is opposed to the closed shop, declared that many industries have moved away from San Francisco because of labor conditions. McGregor knew of no iron works that had left here on that account.

Moved Plants Away.

After Tyson had several strikes among his lumbermen and sailors, he moved away all of his plants except one. He testified that many of his non-union workers were assaulted up to a year ago and then "both armies became worn out and quit."

"The wrecking crew of the local building trades council was very bitter," he said, in telling of one strike. "They came near to having to call out their morgue crew, which I understand they have."

Among the exhibits Tyson filed with the commission was a newspaper clipping, quoting from a graduation day speech President Wilson made at Princeton several years ago, in which he touched on the question of labor unions. The clipping was not read.

Tyson said he had no objection to his men organizing, if they would permit non-union to work with them and not call strikes.

"What can a laboring man who has a just cause do to further that cause if he does not strike?" asked William O. Thompson, counsel for the commission.

"I cannot conceive of such a condition," Tyson replied.

Both Tyson and L. H. Sly, a local contractor, who operates on the open shop plan, complained that union men restricted their output. Among the men charged with doing this were roofers, hod carriers, and calkers.

The commission will close its public hearings for San Francisco tomorrow, and during the ensuing two days investigate the Asiatic immigration problem in executive session.

SIX CHILDREN DIE IN SAND

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Sept. 2.—Five girls and one boy, ranging in age from 8 to 10 years, were killed here today by the caving in of a sand bank on which they were playing.

The boy is supposed to have dislodged the sand, which engulfed him and his companions. They were in a quarry they had dug into the foot of the bank when several feet of sand burst them.

JAPANESE CRUISER IDZUMO OUTSIDE THE GOLDEN GATE

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—After hovering off the Golden Gate nearly all day, at distances varying from four to fifteen miles, the Japanese cruiser Idzumo picked up a small launch—whether one of her own or one from land, could not be said—and put to sea at full steam, headed due west.

$400,000 LOSS BY LIGHTNING WHEN OIL WELLS BURN

CUSHING, Okla., Sept. 2.—Fires in the Cushing oil fields, started today by lightning, destroyed approximately 300,000 barrels of oil and a number of steel tanks. The loss is estimated at $400,000.

Several hundred thousand barrels of oil were destroyed last week in the same field by fires of similar origin.

WHITE SOX TO BE THE THING NEXT SPRING

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 2.—Bleached white or undyed hosiery will prevail next spring and summer, according to officers and members of the advisory board of the National Association of Hosiery and Underwear Manufacturers, who met here today to discuss the dye problems with importers and domestic manufacturers of dyes.

Learning that no immediate relief can be expected in the dye-stuff situation, because of the European war, and that it would take at least a year to establish plants to manufacture dye in this country, hosiery manufacturers were advised not to accept orders for dyed hosiery for delivery after January 1.

BIG VICTORY IN GALICIA REPORTED

PETROGRAD, (St. Petersburg), Sept. 2.—The following official communication was issued by the war office tonight:

"After a battle lasting seven days the Russian army seized heavily fortified positions around Lemberg (capital of Galicia, in Austria-Hungary), about ten or twelve miles from the town. The Russian troops then advanced toward the principal forts.

"After a battle yesterday, which was fiercely contested, the Austrians were obliged to retreat in disorder, abandoning heavy and light guns, parks of artillery and field kitchens.

"Our advance guard and cavalry pursued the enemy, who suffered enormous loss in killed, wounded and prisoners.

"The Austrian army operating in the neighborhood of Lemberg was composed of the Third, Eleventh and Twelfth corps and part of the Seventh and Fourteenth corps. This army appears to have been completely defeated.

"During the pursuit by the Russian troops, the Austrians, who beat a retreat from Gnila Lipa, were forced to abandon an additional thirty-one guns. Our troops are moving over roads encumbered with parks of artillery and convoys loaded with provisions of various kinds.

"The total number of guns captured by the Russians along Lemberg amounts to 150."

The above dispatch was sent from Petrograd by the St. Petersburg Telegraph Agency, the semi-official Russian news agency, and it is the first dispatch received in New York direct from the Russian capital since the declaration of war.

KILLS WIFE AND TRIES SUICIDE

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 2.—Mrs. Adolph D. Pluker, daughter of Peter [illegible], a Sacramento capitalist, was shot through the heart at noon today by her husband who then turned the gun on himself and fired three shots into the region of his heart. Hospital physicians say Pluker cannot recover.

Pluker and his wife had been quarreling for some time past and she informed him that she was going to leave him. He waited in front of their apartment today and when she appeared he shot her. Walking several steps away he fired once at his head and missing then shot three times into his breast. Pluker is a grocery clerk. He had been married six years.

LONDON, Sept. 3, 4:30 a. m.—The Daily Chronicle's Havre correspondent, commenting on the small part which rifle fire plays in the German attacks, quotes a Red Cross surgeon who he says declares that out of 500 wounded he has treated, only one was suffering from a rifle bullet.

All the others had been injured by shrapnel or shell fire.

GERMAN FRONT DRIVES FRENCH OFFICIALS TO REFUGE AT BORDEAUX

Censorship Hides All Details of Great Battle---Japanese Land Troops on Chinese Soil Near Tsingtau

The seat of French government is to be moved from Paris to Bordeaux, which lies 358 miles south-southwest of Paris.

The proclamation announcing this action refers to it as a temporary arrangement.

Regarding the progress of the battle which the Germans are waging on French and Belgian soil, both French and British governments are keeping silence. The movements of the troops are meagrely reported, and it has been impossible, through these reports, to form any adequate idea of how the tide of battle is flowing.

Direct advices from the Russian capital give the official report of a battle lasting seven days between the Russians and Austrians around Lemberg, capital of Galicia, in which the Russians were successful, forcing the Austrians to retreat and seizing heavily fortified positions. The Russians captured 150 guns and the Austrians are said to have suffered enormous losses. In this battle, three full Austrian army corps and parts of two others were engaged.

French aviators have pursued a German aeroplane over Paris. There was an exchange of shots in the air, but the German succeeded in getting away.

Russia admits a serious defeat in East Prussia at the hands of the Germans. In this battle, two Russian army corps were badly cut up and three generals and a number of staff officers were killed.

An official report from Paris says that a German cavalry corps marching towards the forest of Compiegne, engaged the British, and the latter captured ten guns.

Japan has landed thousands of troops at the Chinese port of Lungkow, 100 miles north of Tsingtau, and the German legation at Peking has protested to the Chinese foreign office against this alleged infringement of China's neutrality.

The United States cruiser Tennessee is to be utilized for the transportation of Americans from Havre to England.

Late War Bulletins

LONDON, Sept. 3, 4:09 a. m.—A Petrograd (St. Petersburg) special to the Reuter Telegram Company says that the garrison at Koenigsberg, East Prussia, has made an unsuccessful attempt at a sortie.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Sept. 3, 12:30 a. m.—The official press bureau has issued the following statement:

"Continuous fighting has been in progress all along almost the whole line of battle. The British cavalry engaged with distinction the cavalry of the enemy and brushed them back and captured ten guns.

"The French army has continued the offensive and gained ground in the Lorraine district. In other regions of the war the Russian army is investing Koenigsberg. The Russian victory, which is complete at Lemberg, has already been announced."

LONDON, Sept. 3, 3 a. m.—A dispatch to the Chronicle from Paris states that orders have been issued for the removal of all wounded from Paris to Rennes and Nantes.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—Shortly before midnight, Bar Pilot Swanson reported to the marine bureau of the Chamber of Commerce that he had spoken a French war vessel a short distance outside the Golden Gate, shortly after dark. It is believed in marine circles that the vessel is the French cruiser Montcalm.

ROME, Sept. 3, via Paris, 3:30 a. m.—A telegram received here from Nish says the Servians are preparing to attack and invade Austria, as the Austrian forces for days have failed to confront the Servians.

LONDON, Sept. 3, 4:05 a. m.—A despatch from Paris to the Mail states that one of the three German aeroplanes which made flights across Paris on Wednesday, was brought down by rifle fire and landed in a deserted spot outside the city. The wrecked machine was found, but the aviator had disappeared.

ROME, Sept. 2, via Paris, Sept. 3, 2:37 a. m.—The Giornale d'Italia says a squadron of British and French warships has bombarded the entrance to the port of Cattaro, Austria, with the evident intention of destroying the wireless station and the semaphore signals.

SAY GERMANS KILLED INJURED

LONDON, Sept. 3, 5:25 a. m.—The Ostend correspondent of the Express quotes Leon Hiard, senator of Hainault, as testifying "that the Germans killed their own severely wounded on the battlefield, only tending those who would soon recover.

"There are many signs, according to the despatch, that the Germans suffered heavily at Mons. Returning remnants of those who were in the fight spoke bitterly of British courage. One force of 250 British, it is said, must have accounted for thousands of Germans. All along their line of retreat they had prepared a defense made with bags full of potash, found in a neighboring factory. Through these were placed Maxims and on top German helmets. The first time the Germans came up to this seemingly friendly the Maxims spoke and soon no Germans were left.

Mons is reported to have suffered heavily and its whole neighborhood was devastated.

GERMANS AGAIN BOMBARD CITY

LONDON, Sept. 2, 8 a. m.—A despatch from Antwerp to Reuter's Telegram Company conveys the following official announcement:

"The Germans are again bombarding Malines, aiming at the steeple of the cathedral, a prominent landmark.

"Certain movements of the German troops in the department of Asschey in the province of Brabant, six miles northwest of Brussels, gave rise to the belief that the Germans were contemplating a movement toward Termonde, sixteen miles east of Ghent. However, the Belgian troops have been reinforced on account of the necessity of preserving control of Waasland. The enemy advanced from Brussels to Asschey, but could not penetrate further north.

"Ninove and Alost, sixteen and fifteen miles respectively, from Ghent, in different directions, have been occupied by the Germans.

"In the provinces of Antwerp and Limburg the situation is unchanged."

KAISER WAS AT CHARLEROI

LONDON, Sept. 2, 3:20 a. m.—The Daily Mail's correspondent at Abbeville, France, learns that Emperor William, was in Charleroi, Belgium, last Saturday, where he visited the battlefield, later motoring to Mons. He spent Saturday night in Brussels, and stayed at the Bellevue hotel.

The Young duke of Brunswick, a son-in-law of Emperor William, gave a big banquet last week in the palace of Laaken in Brussels, according to the same correspondent. The principal guest was the emperor's son, Prince August William.

The correspondent also says:

"King Albert came within an ace of death during a sortie on Malines. He was directing operations from his motor car when shrapnel burst ten yards away, blowing off the rear wheels of the car.

RUSSIANS NOW HEAD FOR VIENNA

ROME, Sept. 2, 7:25 p. m., via Paris, Sept. 3, 2:39 a. m.—News received here from Durazzo, Albania, says that the insurgents have again bombarded the town. Two projectiles fell near the royal palace which is still guarded by Italian sailors.

A report received here from Belgrade states that the Servian government has been officially notified that the Russian plan will infallibly lead to the occupation of Vienna.

The news from Servia also declares that great excitement prevails in that country over the reported Austrian defeat. Boys and men from 15 to 65 years of age have been called to arms.

Servia officially denies the statement made in Austria that 1,400 Servians had been made prisoners, saying that the Austrians only took about 60 prisoners at Shabats, but that when they were driven from Servian territory, they took with them a number of peaceful inhabitants whom they depict probably as Servian soldiers.

TURKEY STARTS WAR?

(Special to the Republican)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 2.—It is reported here on the highest authority that Turkey has declared war on the allies. The Ottoman government has 600,000 troops mobilized, of which half will be sent against the Russian flank and half to Egypt to join the Mohammedans in an uprising against the British.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Dow, Jones & Company today published the following on its news ticker:

London — Unconfirmed reports are current here that Turkey has declared war on Russia. Communication with Constantinople has been cut off for three days and the Turkish ambassador stated he had no way of telling when he would hear from his government again.

NO RECEIVERSHIP FOR OIL LANDS

Companies Win Second Round in Contest in Kern County

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—The legal fight of the United States government to recover title to large parcels of California oil and mineral lands, received its second serious setback today at the hands of Judge Maurice T. Dooling of the United States district court, when he denied the application of the government for the appointment of a receiver for Kern county oil lands worth over $10,000,000. The government sustained its first defeat in its efforts to cancel patents to such lands last June when Judge Dooling held that President Taft's withdrawal of oil and mineral lands was legally ineffective.

In denying the government's application for a receivership for the Kern county lands, comprising 160 acres and operated by five distinct companies, Judge Dooling pointedly stated that the plea of the government that the acquisition of the patents to the lands by the operating companies "was tainted with fraud," was baseless in that they invested vast sums of money in the development of the lands in good faith and as far as the evidence disclosed, were now operating in "good faith."

The federal attorneys grounded their application for a receivership upon the charge that the "Hawk location," under which all of the defendants entered upon the land was obtained fraudulently through dummies by G. W. McCutcheon, one of the original locators of the "Lone Star" claim filed on in 1909, and which was the same land now in litigation. Judge Dooling gave little weight to the government's contention, stating in his opinion that "Hawk location" filed on in 1912, was without fraud in that the location was made, and legally, simply to secure further title to the lands originally comprised within the area of the "Lone Star location." The opinion virtually held that the use of dummies to secure title previously held legally, is not an illegality.

In summing up the opinion reads: "The whole situation is too clouded to warrant the court in disturbing at this time the possession of the operating companies, whose good faith is beyond question and who have expended vast sums in developing land previously unproved and possibly worthless.

"Even if the original acquisition of the lands was tainted with fraud, it is doubtful if the companies now in possession, who bought the land in good faith, can be denied legal title."

The companies now operating the wells on the 160 acres are the Pacific Midway Company, the Mariposa Star Company, the Spreckels Company and the General Petroleum Company.

BIG RED CROSS FUND IS RAISED FOR SERVIANS

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Michael I. Pupin, president of the Serb-American Red Cross committee in the United States, has cabled $20,000 to the Red Cross committee in Servia, it was announced at the Servian consulate here tonight. This money has been raised in all parts of this country.

Word was received at the consulate that the Serb-American alliance in California will forward $10,000 to the Red Cross in Servia by way of the committee here.

WELL KNOWN DEMOCRAT IS OUT FOR JOHNSON

Russ D. Stephens, Fruit Grower, Announces Allegience

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 2.—Russ D. Stephens, well nown fruit grower and long a war horse of the Democratic party, will vote for Johnson and Eshleman at the coming election.

"Yes," said Mr. Stephens, in an interview this morning, "I am for Hiram Johnson for governor and for John M. Eshleman for lieutenant governor.

"Every man whose interests are affected by shipping charges ought to support Johnson and Eshleman because of the great good that has been accomplished for those who have to pay freight bills. As a fruit shipper, I have known what was meant by the frank declaration of the railroad officials, under former regimes, that they were entitled to charge 'all the traffic would bear.' I feel that I owe my support to these two men who have brought about a proper regard for my rights and have compelled the transportation companies to reduce their rates to a fair and just basis.

"I am a Democrat, as I have been all my life, and I am not yielding my democracy a single inch in declaring myself for Johnson and Eshleman.

"If it is good government we want and actual accomplishment for the good of the people, then we must lend our support to the present governor and the president of the State Railroad commission. The day of blind partisanship is over. I am for President Wilson because of the things he stands for; I am for William Kent because of the things he stands for; and I am for Johnson and Eshleman because of the good things they stand for.

"I did not vote for Johnson four years ago, but the record he has made as governor has won my unqualified support.

"I will vote for the re-election of Johnson because he has kept inviolate the pledges he made to the people during his campaign four years ago.

"His defeat would mean the restoration of the old machine, doubly strengthened and fortified under the management and control of the Southern Pacific department of politics.

"It would mean the ultimate destruction of the efficiency of the Railroad Commission. Its most bitter enemies dare not step out into the open and say it should be done.

"It would mean the repeal of the direct primary law, which gives to all voters the right to express their choice for candidates, and it would mean a return to the old convention system which was so satisfactory to the machine politicians and big interests.

"It would mean that generations would come and go before a Johnson, or a man by any other name, could be found who would be willing to step out on the firing line in defense of the rights of the people."

BOUNDARIES OF CANAL ADJUSTED

New Treaty With Panama Is Signed By Diplomats

PANAMA, Sept. 2.—An important treaty, by the terms of which the United States gains control of the waters of the harbors of Colon and Ancon, together with certain other valuable rights, was signed here today by William Jennings Price, the American minister, and Ernesto T. Lefevre, Panaman secretary of foreign relations.

The new convention has been under negotiation for the last four years. Early last year, the negotiations were broken off by Panama because it then seemed impossible to bring the two governments into accord.

The instrument replaces what has been known as the Davis agreement of June 15, 1904, in which the boundaries of the Canal Zone were tentatively fixed with the understanding that a future formal treaty would fix them permanently. It also amplifies the Panama Canal treaty of November 18, 1903, under which the Canal Zone was acquired from Panama.

Panama, by the provisions of the convention, will for the first time, be placed in direct physical connection with the remainder of the country. Hitherto the capital has been cut off by the Canal Zone, over which those wishing to reach other parts of the republic had to traverse. A large tract of fertile land, called "Las Sabanas," or The Savannas, is ceded to Panama. In this territory are located many of the handsome country estates of wealthy Panamans.

The United States acquires absolute control over all the waters of Colon and Ancon harbors, and in addition, two small islands lying in Ancon harbor, which are to be used for observation and light stations by the coast artillery. One of these islands will be fortified. The site of battery Hancock, on the Colon waterfront, is given to the United States, as is also control of all the piers at the north entrance of the canal, costing approximately $2,500,000.

It is specially stipulated in the treaty that no railway shall be built across the "Sabanas", without the consent of the United States, and that the United States may re-take and occupy a portion of all of these lands if needed for the protection and defense of the canal or its approaches.

The treaty will now be sent to the Washington and Panama Senates for ratification.

Bridget, Moike, with all the little Paddies will be there on Labor Day. —Advertisement

CHARGED WITH MURDER OF ABSENT RANCHER

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Sept. 2.—Frank Williams, a former pugilist, was arrested today, charged with having murdered A. C. McCleod, a rancher, after he had forged a bill of sale transferring to him the McCleod ranch.

Williams says he does not know what has become of McCleod and insists the bill of sale is genuine. Officers are searching the ranch for McLeod's body.

NEW TRIAL FOR HALL.

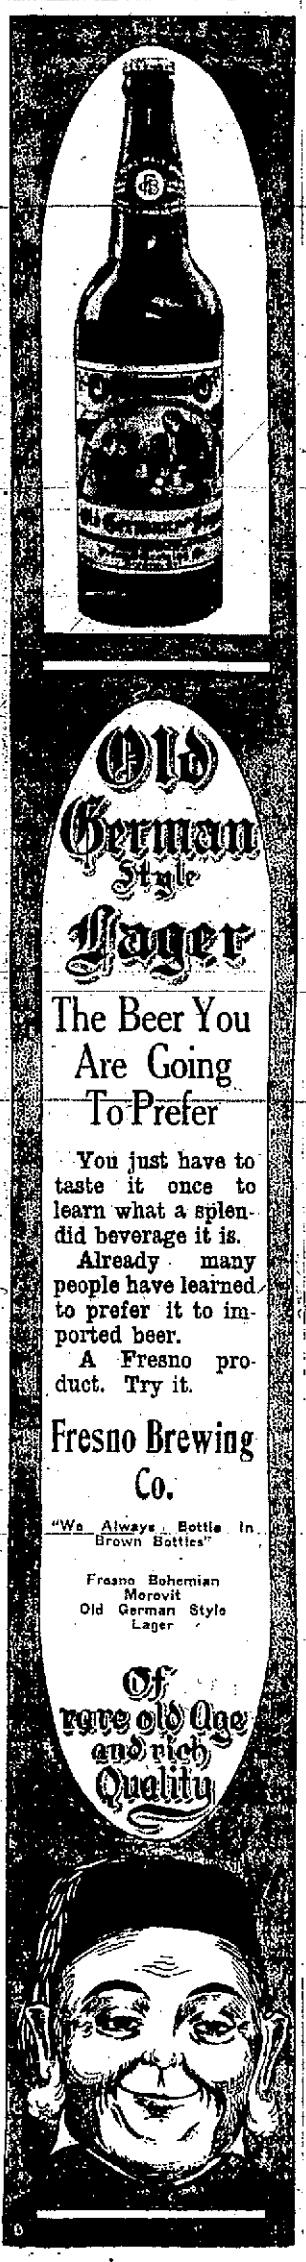

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 2—Felix G. Hall, Quincy, Plumas county, editor, sentenced last November to nine years in San Quentin prison for the killing of Attorney John A. Boyle, was today granted a new trial in a decision from the third district court of appeals. The decision is one of the longest ever rendered by the appellate court, containing approximately 9000 words. The court held there was a doubt as to the guilt of the defendant and also that the district attorney by misconduct had prejudiced the jury.

CROOK PLEADS GUILTY

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 2.—Dan J. THOUSANDS have visited this great, new Public Service Institution since its informal opening last Saturday. Exclamations of surprise, wonder and admiration fill the air as the throngs make excursions of inspection through this wonderful store for the first time, an establishment of truly metropolitan character that would be a credit to cities many times larger than Fresno, a store that has the distinction of being the largest in any city of similar size in the United States.

More chance or accident have had nothing to do with the E. Gottschalk & Co.'s attainment to its present size. Thought and hard work, backed up by certain high ideals and progressive business methods, have evolved the store as it stands today at the tenth milestone of its history, and no element has had more to do with the success of this institution than that of value-giving.

In the gathering of merchandise for our new store, sound business principles have been practiced. For weeks our buyers were busy at the sources of supply and every ebb and flow of market values have been used to the best advantage, with the result that here is assembled the largest, most keenly bought, the best assorted stock ever seen in Central California under one roof.

In distribution to the public we shall continue our principle of offering goods absolutely dependable in freshness, style and quality, at the lowest possible prices.

This is merchandising as we believe in it; the straightforward way of dealing with the public that has established implicit confidence and the rule of VALUE-GIVING that leads to permanent success.

The Formal Opening and Style Review Will Occur From September 10th to 12th

The management extends a cordial invitation to all to visit the store now and see the many new features and inspect the new fall merchandise—for today every section throughout the store has planned some extraordinary special values that those who come to view may combine pleasure and profit if they so choose.

PRESIDENT WILL CALL ON CONGRESS TO PASS EMERGENCY WAR TAX LEVY

EXPECTS TO DELIVER MESSAGE IN PERSON

Special Joint Session of Houses to Be Held Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—President Wilson will begin tomorrow the preparation of a message which he plans to read to Congress Friday, urging the necessity of emergency legislation to offset the curtailment in customs receipts since the beginning of the European war.

About $100,000,000 must be provided. It is understood the President will make it clear that sufficient revenues for all purposes are assured, but that the raising of emergency revenue must be raised to prevent a deficit. Administration leaders in Congress already have been studying available sources of special revenue and have been in frequent conference with Secretary McAdoo of the Treasury Department. Senator Simmons, chairman of the finance committee, has co-operated with Representative Underwood, chairman of the ways and means committee, in the preliminary deliberations, and both were convinced several weeks ago that war revenue would be necessary probably to the extent of $100,000,000. It was agreed that the ways and means committee should work out a bill which will be reported early next week.

Underwood has asked the President to indicate what course he proposed to recommend in raising the needed revenues but up to tonight the President had not done so.

To Be Taxed.

Suggestions have been made that beer, whisky, domestic wines, tobacco, railroad and theater tickets, gasoline, patent medicines, soft drinks and other similar commodities be taxed. No agreement has been reached, however, by the ways and means majority.

There is said to be a war revenue plan which rests undisclosed in Majority Leader Underwood's mind. His purpose is not to call the committee together until the President's message is received. He has withheld his plan to avoid unnecessary discussion but believes it will be simple enough to allow passage without delay.

The Treasury Department reported today that customs revenues dropped off about $11,000,000 during August. Total customs receipts for that month were $19,431,363. Slight increases over August, 1913, were shown in internal revenue and corporation tax returns, but the total receipts for the month were nearly $10,000,000 less than in August last year.

President Wilson sees no reason why Congress should remain in session after the emergency war measure and the trust legislation have been disposed of, and officials expect adjournment this month.

The administration government merchant marine bill was ordered favorably reported today by the House merchant marine committee. Chairman Alexander plans to have it taken up in the House next week.

SIOUX INDIANS HAVE HARD TIME

LONDON, Sept. 2, 9:30 p. m.—William Arthur of Lamer, Wyo., accompanied by nine Sioux Indians, who were attached to a circus which was performing in Trieste when the war broke out, reached London today after many exciting adventures.

In relating his experiences, Arthur said that in crossing Austria he had seen many persons suspected of being spies, killed by infuriated mobs. Among them were some women. At one town he witnessed the arrest of 300 Servians who were charged with poisoning wells. They were lined up before walls and shot.

At Munich, according to Arthur, the Indians were arrested and badly mauled by a mob before the police were able to afford them adequate protection. The mob had raised the cry that the Indians were spies.

MORE MARKETS FOR NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—The four free markets opened by the city in the borough of Manhattan yesterday, in an effort to keep down the price of foodstuffs, have been so successful that additional markets will be opened in the Bronx and on Staten Island, it was announced today. Locations for other markets are being sought in Brooklyn.

Prices at the free markets were from 10 to 40 per cent lower than those quoted at stores.

AMERICAN BANKS IN SOUTH AMERICA

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—The federal reserve board today decided to grant the application of the National City Bank of New York to establish branches in South America.

Austrian Reservists.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Dr. K. T. Dumba, Austrian ambassador to the United States, came to New York today from Manchester, N. H., to try to find a way to get Austrian reservists here back to Europe. He had an appointment with Dr. Charles Winter, the Austrian consul general here late this afternoon. More than 10,000 Austrian reservists, it is estimated, are ready to leave here for Austria to fight if a way can be found for them to do so.

British Watch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—The hawk-like watch which British cruisers have maintained on New York harbor was continued today, when the cruiser Suffolk closed a departing vessel within view of shore observers at the Highlands.

The vessel was the Van Hogendorp of the Atlantic fruit line, flying the Dutch flag. On sighting her, the Suffolk displayed signals ordering her to stop instantly. The Van Hogendorp was then several miles off and her officers did either not see the Suffolk's signals or disregarded them.

Within a minute the cruiser gave chase. Shore observers saw the span of water between the two craft grow shorter rapidly. Presently the Van Hogendorp stopped; a small boat put out from the cruiser and officers boarded the steamer. Forty-five minutes later the small boat returned and the Suffolk sent the international code message "T. D. L.," which means, "wish you a pleasant voyage."

The Norwegian steamer Oskarhus bound for Jamaica, also was chased by the Suffolk but paid no attention to the cruiser's repeated signals to stop as she was within the three-mile limit. The cruiser chased the steamer for an hour and finding then that the Guidense still held her course close to the shore, abandoned the pursuit and headed out to sea.

Drug Shortage.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Druggists were not justified because of the European war in increasing the price of drugs until the stocks they had on hand at the beginning of hostilities were exhausted, according to D. W. MacLean, secretary of a drug company, who testified today before Chief Magistrate McAdoo in District Attorney Whitman's "John Doe" inquiry into high food prices.

Albert Clouch, vice-president of the Wholesale Druggists of New York, said the importation of drugs from the countries at war virtually had ceased and that other sources of supply must be found. Prices had been advanced, he declared, because the supply on hand was growing smaller each day and it soon will be impossible to buy various articles at any price.

Otto P. Amend, a wholesaler, declared the embargo placed by Germany on all medicines, medical supplies and dyes which might be used for military purposes, would prevent importations from that country until the end of the war. Dyes, he said, might be made here but at a greater expense than if manufactured abroad.

Carpathia Arrives.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—The Cunarder Carpathia with 504 passengers, nearly all of them American tourists, reached New York this afternoon from Malta, Messina and Naples.

At Naples the Carpathia was made over, so far as her passenger accommodations were concerned all space being made into one class. Her funnel was painted lead color and other changes were made to disguise her appearance.

Americans at Ostend

LONDON, Sept. 2, 2 p. m.—The American embassy was advised today that 200 Americans are stranded at Ostend and unable to get their checks cashed. Ambassador Page is making an effort to get money to them.

Arms Contracts

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2—American manufacturers have contracts to supply $20,000,000 in arms and ammunition to certain European belligerents, Count von Bernstorff, German ambassador here, asserted tonight on his return from New York.

The ambassador said he did not know if any violation of neutrality were involved, and was not yet in a position to say whether or not the matter would be called to the attention of the American government.

Count von Bernstorff will see President Wilson tomorrow, his first visit to the White House since his return from Germany.

American Claims.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Americans whose automobiles were commandeered by military authorities in some of the European countries began filing claims with the State Department today. Most of the tourists were given receipts for their cars with the promise that they would be reimbursed. In most cases settlements are not expected before the end of the war.

German Exports

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Representative Metz today received from Rotterdam, and transmitted to Secretary Bryan advices that Germany has raised the embargo on exportations of dye stuffs, but not on pharmaceutical products.

Captured 4000.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2. — Germans took four thousand Belgian prisoners at Liege, according to personal letters received here today by Representative Metz of New York.

"My mail from friends in Germany today," said Mr. Metz, "convinces me that the second reserves are not yet called out, for I know a number of men in Germany who are forty-seven or forty-eight years old who are still at their work. The first line is from 18 to 45 years."

Reserves Not Needed

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Sept. 2.—As the result of an improved naval situation resulting from the blockade of the German fleet in its port in the North Sea the British admiralty after accepting an offer by the Newfoundland government to increase the existing force of naval reserves among the Newfoundland fishermen from 500 to 1,000 has decided that the increase will not be required and that it will not be necessary to continue in active service 400 out of 600 men who respond in the call to arms at the beginning of August and assembled here.

Danish Steamer.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—The Danish steamer Hellig Olav arrived today from Copenhagen, Christiana and Christiansand with 1,050 passengers. Among the passengers was Hans Nolsie, a newspaper proprietor in Omaha.

Getting Fresh Troops.

LONDON, Sept. 2, 10:55 a. m.—A despatch to the Daily News from Rotterdam says:

"From Terneuzen, on the Dutch frontier, near Antwerp, reports come of a general movement of German troops eastward. Exhausted men are being replaced in all directions by reserves. The movement is also believed to be connected with the arrival of the landsturm reservists, who are to occupy the whole of the Belgian territory."

Open Shop Difficulty.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—Conducting an open shop business here is not to be accomplished without difficulties, L. H. Sly, a non-union builder today told the Federal Industrial Relations commission.

Whenever Mr. Sly desires brick, fire escapes or cornice work, he said, he has to buy such material under a fictitious name, or send someone who is not known to be associated with him after it. Firms selling material to Mr. Sly or any other employer of non-union labor would be boycotted by the unions, the witness said.

Despite these drawbacks, Mr. Sly said he was well satisfied to continue employing unorganized labor for it is his belief that it does more work than union labor at a lower rate.

"I think non-union men, whose labor is unrestricted, will do more work," Mr. Sly testified. "For instance, union hod carriers will stack only twelve barrels of lime a day. Unorganized hod carriers will stack from twenty to twenty-six barrels. A union metal lather will lay only 100 yards of material a day. A good lather can lay from 150 to 160 yards."

Building material prices here are higher than they are in the east because of union conditions obtaining so generally, Mr. Sly said. He declared that a certain kind of door which he uses, sells on the San Francisco market for $7.00, while in the east the cost is only $3.75.

McCarthy's Term

The witness declared that during the term of Mayor P. H. McCarthy, which he termed the "labor administration," several attempts were made by city officials to tie up his work. Citing a case where the electrical work on a contract was condemned, he said he proved by inspectors outside the city service that the work was done properly and then "warned the city inspector through an attorney, that the work would have to be passed within 24 hours.

"We got it passed," Mr. Sly testified, "after taking off two taps and scraping off a little enamel to save the face of the city electrical department."

Mr. Sly said that under non-union conditions his cost of construction had increased 50 per cent in the last sixteen years. P. H. McCarthy testified yesterday that union labor had decreased the cost of building here.

R. W. Burton, business agent of the Iron Moulders' union, next told how an eight-hour day was brought into effect here beginning June 1, 1910.

Paris Is Calm.

LONDON, Sept. 2, 3:43 a. m.—"With the Germans so near there has not been a day in the last month when Paris presented the appearance of such complete calm," says the Paris correspondent of the Chronicle. "More shops are open and rows of chairs have appeared before the chief cafes.

"The possibility of a German raid is slight. Solitary forrresses may perhaps be masked, but the attempt to cut down the Oise Valley towards Paris, except as a trivial raid without first routing the masses of the army, is madness.

"We may assume therefore that if the Germans have faced eastward and turned their backs on the British and other forces gathering in Picardy (an old province in the north of France, but now forming the department of Somme and part of Oise, Pas de Calais and Aisne), they must either win an immediate victory or risk being caught between the hammer and the anvil. If they win they will still have to meet other armies, including the large garrison army. Common sense is shown in preparing against any contingency.

"No considerable change is perceptible in the military situation, and it is believed that the main French army and the British wing still hold the line. So far the German turning movement by western Belgium which cost enormous losses and risks, has been successful, but now the position is very different. The best Prussian and Hanover troops are now exhausted and the Germans have the main bodies of the allies to meet.

"The forts on which so many brains have been spent are not silenced. What prospective defeat, flight and piecemeal slaughter is open for the Germans?

"A brief official review just issued reveals the vast extent of this unprecedented battlefield, seventy-five miles long. Forty-five miles southwest from their main army, the allies blocked the German path.

"Whether the same British force is fighting on the Somme to the southwest or another, we do not know. Near Sedan the French troops had to affect a slow retreat, but it repelled another German attack in so doing inflicting heavy German losses. Fresh German reinforcements then appeared from Rocroi, a fortified town in the department of Ardennes, making towards * * * and fighting is now going on between * * * and the Meuse.

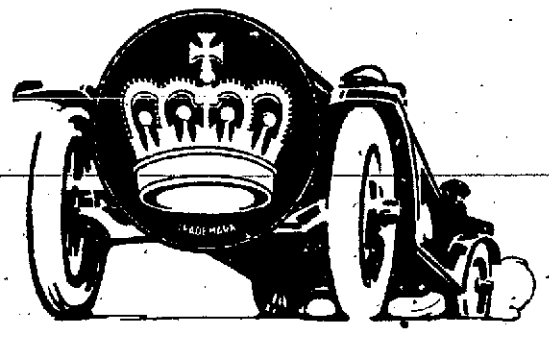

"Many wounded continue to arrive in Paris, some with trophies such as swords and helmets.

"The Red Cross ladies here have been officially informed that twelve of their number were killed and that others are missing."

SURRENDER ARMS

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 2. — Thousands of arms of every variety and of various epochs were turned in today at the national palace, the citadel and the foreign legation, in conformity with the decree of the military authorities that all arms be surrendered. The time for surrender expires at noon. One room in the Brazilian legation is completely filled with arms and ammunition.

A meeting of Constitutionalist generals was held at the national palace tonight to discuss the methods to be used in calling for general elections in accordance with the plan of Guadalupe.

COMING HORROR

The removal of the French government from Paris to Bordeaux and the order to all French residents in the zone of fire from Paris fortifications to destroy their houses and leave at once, is, of course, a definite announcement that France regards a second siege of Paris probable. Governments do not flee the capital on a mere hypothetical possibility, and no nation would command its citizens in large numbers to burn up their own houses as a mere precaution. Evidently the advance of the Germans towards Paris, terribly costly as it is to them, is so effective that the French authorities do not regard it as probable that they will be able permanently to prevent it.

But while the German strategy and German success up to this time resemble very greatly, except in their greater difficulty and slowness, the history of the Franco-Prussian war of 1871. It is hard to imagine that history can repeat itself in the later stages of this siege of Paris. The success of the former investment of the French capital was due to the fact that the Prussians had first captured a large part of the French army and had cut off the rest from all possibility of relieving the beleaguered city. They were thus able to sit down around Paris and await at leisure its capitulation. The French inside waited until they had eaten up all the cattle, all the horses, all the cats, dogs and rats in Paris, and finally the lions and tigers in the zoological collections. Then they surrendered. This time no such leisurely strategy will be possible. It will be impossible entirely to cut off the French armies of the frontier from the opportunity to assail the besiegers from the rear, and even if it were possible there are still the armies of England and Russia to deal with. Germany may therefore invest Paris, but it cannot anticipate the time for a leisurely siege. If it is done it must be done quickly, which means that it must be done by destructive force. It will be impossible to wait to starve the Parisians into submission, and it will therefore be necessary to undertake to fight or frighten them into submission.

This means, of course, war measures more ruthless than have ever in modern times been applied to the siege of a great city occupied by a large civilian population. The action of the Germans in first disregarding the neutrality of Belgium and then the imposing of huge war contributions on the captured Belgian cities indicates that in the desperation of the present war, German strategy regards necessity as the only law. If Paris is therefore successfully invested we may expect demands for the immediate surrender of the city backed by threats of its destruction by bombardment, or the levying of a staggering war contribution in the event of the refusal to surrender. If the German plans are to succeed at all it means that Paris must be taken effectively before England has time to collect a sufficient army and before the Russian attack on east Prussia has gone beyond the possibility of recovery. This is, of course, not to say that the German strategy will succeed, for against such tremendous odds it may fail, but it is merely forecasting the tactics which such an emergency will force on Germany. The former siege of Paris is now a picturesque and romantic memory to those who went through it. The coming siege, if the Germans are at all successful in prosecuting it, promises to be a thing of unrelieved horror forever.

NOT WELL TAKEN

It is to be hoped that the United States will not be deterred by protests from European powers from its project of establishing a merchant marine by buying foreign vessels wherever they are for sale. It happens that the most immediately available vessels belong to German citizens. But if French, English or Japanese companies have vessels for sale, the United States should be in the market for these also. The objection that purchase would establish a gold credit to the interest of Germany is puerile. The purchases will not be made from the German government, but from companies composed of private German citizens, and the payment would doubtless be made not in gold, but in United States bonds. If the holders of these bonds can turn them into gold that is their privilege. That gold will be located in America, and it will be impossible under war conditions to transport that gold physically to Germany. As a basis of credit in the United States, it can be used to promote commerce, but not to promote war.

It is, of course, to the interest of the various belligerents to prevent each other's commerce, and to starve each other out; but it is to the interest of the United States to promote commerce wherever it can get it. And certainly if there was ever a time when we have plenty of example for considering our own interests first, that time is right now. Every other nation in the world is disregarding every other interest but its own. Since all these interests go towards destroying business and starving the people of the world, while our interest is constructive and goes towards promoting the business and feeding the people of the world, certainly we have a better right than any other nation to regard our own interest, regardless of who is pleased or displeased by it.

The technical question of the neutrality of vessels so purchased is not easy. It seems probable under the precedents of international law that if the vessels were purchased by American citizens from German or English citizens after the outbreak of the war, and were placed under the American flag, this would not constitute them neutral vessels. To neutralize a vessel, the change of ownership must be in good faith before the outbreak of war, and must be the product of other than war conditions. If this is the case, it may be necessary for the United States government as such to purchase the vessels and to run them in its capacity as a sovereign nation rather than in the merely proprietary capacity of the majority stockholder in a government protected company.

However, this question of law is debatable, and certainly at this time there is no tribunal of international right so competent to deal with these questions as precisely our own national fiat and determination. As the sole custodian of the peace of the world, and the sole promoter of the world's commerce and industry, we have the right to determine for ourselves that course which will promote the ordinary conduct of the world's business and to maintain it even against the unanimous wish of the belligerent powers, who do not desire that orderly conduct promoted. There is no tribunal in the world except that of force to which to appeal from our decision, and the belligerents are not going to appeal to that tribunal. We have simply to announce, with due diplomatic courtesy, but with entire firmness, that we regard these vessels as neutral, and propose to treat them as such, and we shall find that nothing worse will happen than the interchange of diplomatic quibbles. Meantime the commerce will be resumed and we shall be conducting that commerce.

AFTER 100 YEARS

It is an interesting fact that just one hundred years ago this month the Congress of Vienna met to remake the map of Europe after it had been unmade by Napoleon. It is also still more interesting and much more important to be reminded that of all the things which come out of that Congress of Vienna, the only one which has lasted, because the only one founded in justice and in the real interests of humanity, is the American Monroe Doctrine. The dominant element in that Congress of Vienna was the so-called holy alliance of the emperors of Russia and Austria and the king of Prussia, which concealed behind plausible pretexts its real purpose of antagonizing the growth of democracy throughout the world. Most of the purposes of the holy alliance defeated themselves, but one of the things which it called forth was the Monroe Doctrine, whose intent was to keep the holy alliance and its plots out of the American continent. Everything else in the Congress of Vienna finally went to pieces, and now, a hundred years later, everything left of all the successors of that congress is now going to pieces and the Monroe Doctrine, its incidental offshoot, is the only guarantee of the only peace now left in the world.

YOSEMITE

Californians who cherish the delusion that the only time to visit Yosemite valley is during the height of the so-called season, should try the delightful experiment occasionally of visiting the valley out of season; in the late summer or autumn, for instance, or even in mid-winter. The traditional season in Yosemite has always depended upon the condition of a single one of the multitude of attractions of the valley. The Yosemite waterfalls are, of course, at their best only in the spring and early summer, though, to be sure, this year the Vernal and Nevada falls are still wonderfully beautiful even after the end of the season. But the Yosemite would still be the most marvelous single gem of mountain scenery in the world even if there were no waterfalls at all in it. Especially for those who make more than one visit to the valley, the condition of the higher waterfalls is a secondary matter. These waterfalls will always attract the crowds of one-time tourists during the season when they are at their best. This should leave to the Californians, whose visits to the valley ought to come far more frequently than once in a lifetime, the comfort of going at other times, when the climatic conditions are better, when the crowding of accommodations is less inconvenient, and when the wonderful light effects of the autumnal haze are at their best. The writer has just returned from his seventh visit to the Yosemite valley, and can truthfully say that he has never seen more of the real beauty of the valley than on this occasion. He can also add that seven visits, instead of being too many, are just enough for the beginning of a real appreciation of California's most wonderful natural attraction.

THE DAYS OF REAL SPORT

The Great Trials of History

TRIAL OF JOHN PORTEOUS

One of the most cordially hated men in Edinburg 200 years ago was one John Porteous, captain of the city guard. By his insolence and native arrogance he was both feared and hated by the mob of that city. At that time a great number of the population were in some way connected with smugglers or smuggling and always ready to help in the traffic of contraband goods. So the majority of the people were in sympathy with the Edinburg merchant, Andrew Wilson, when he was arrested and sentenced to be executed for robbing the custom house at Pittenween, which he had done in retaliation for the severe methods put in force against the smugglers.

One of the customs of that day was forcible church-going on Sunday, and as Wilson and an accomplice, Robertson, were in church Wilson suddenly shouted "Georilie, do for thy life!" and by holding three of the guards he left the way clear for Robertson to escape, which he promptly did by running over the top of the pews. Although the church was crowded no attempt was made to stop him, indeed, when once he fell, he was helped up by a minister, and out in the street he mounted a saddled horse and was never again heard of. This shows the attitude of the mob, and so it was with slight misgiving that Captain Porteous heard ominous rumors of an attempt to rescue the prisoner from the scaffold.

On April 14, 1736, Wilson was executed with no disturbance till the corpse was being cut down. The mob then "threw as usual some dirt and stones which, falling amongst the city guards, Captain Porteous fired and ordered his men to fire, whereupon twenty persons were wounded, and six or seven killed."

Subsequently Porteous was apprehended and brought to trial. In the indictment he was charged with shooting one Charles Husband, and ordering his men to fire. Dr. Andrew Carlisle stated that when the Captain ordered them (the guard) to fire many of them elevated their pieces and showed their reluctance in obeying the order. Porteous turned to them "with threatening gestures and an inflamed countenance."

This accusation was corroborated by a number of witnesses who said that when Porteous saw the guards holding their pieces to fire over the heads of the mob after the command had been given he cried to them to "level your pieces and be damned to them." That some of the soldiers aimed high was proved by the fact that a young man watching the execution from a window was killed by a slug.

Porteous said in his defense that he himself did not fire but that several of the soldiers without his orders "unfortunately" fired upon the multitude.

To the satisfaction of the community, Porteous was found guilty and sentenced to death. After this two petitions, which are preserved, today, both differently worded were presented to Queen Caroline, then guardian of the realm the King being in Hanover. A reprieve was granted and the prisoner was lodged in the Tolbooth. At this the mob was roused to a high pitch and rumors of lynching were everywhere around the town.

On September 7 a body of men in disguise entered the city and seized the burgh drummer's drum, tied it about the neck of his son and bade him beat a call to arms. The keeper of West Port was seized and the keys taken from him and the gate locked. From thence along Cowgate — the faltering drummer beating for his life—till the Cowgate port was reached, where they found the keeper had prudently hidden both himself and his keys. Here a guard was left to keep the gate and the main body, after despatching "numbers of the mob to take possession of the Bristo and Potter Row Posts, poured into High Street towards the Guard House.

They made no secret of their intentions, and with the drum beating and the howling of the rabble, the original conspirators were soon joined by sympathizers till it swelled into a formidable mob. The city guards were busy in the surrounding taverns but a Captain Lind, investigating the noise as soon as he saw the crowd gathered together at the top of Blackfriar's Wynd "clapt his hand on his sword, and ran away as fast as his feet could carry him.

The now thoroughly inflamed rabble broke, into the Tolbooth, set all the prisoners free, and dragged out the unfortunate Captain attired only in a night shirt and cap. It was the intention of the mob to hang him on the gallows where he had shed so much blood, and as they proceeded he was badly beaten, torches were thrust in his face and he received no mercy.

An eye witness wrote that he was hung on a dyer's tree in the square where Wilson was executed, where he was not left to hang outright, but was hauled up till he was nearly dead and then put on his feet again and so hauled up and down for nearly an hour. As his hands were not tied he struggled so much that one of the mob broke his arm and shoulder. Once, on being pulled down, he asked for half an hour to pray but this was refused. After his death the crowd quickly dispersed and in the morning the body and the smoldering torches were the only traces left, and gave for these the happenings of the night before seemed but a frightful and fantastic nightmare.

MAKES A PIPPIN OF A SHOT

Here is a tale of one of the most remarkable shots ever made in golf, just reported from the Kekionga Golf Club at Fort Wayne, although it happened last fall:

Wright Dodez was playing Fritz McCulloch in the semifinals for a trophy. His drive was short and he hit a long ball on the approach. The ball went among the branches of an apple tree.

The ball finally was discovered, half imbedded in a big mellow pippin, which had dropped into the crotch of one of the branches.

Dodez elected to play the ball from its lie. Climbing a tree he hooked a leg over a limb, splattered the apple all over the links, and his ball tore free and rolled to the edge of the green. He ran down a long put and halved the hole.—Chicago Examiner.

BIG FISH GIVES ANGLER A BATH

Pulled overboard from a boat by a six-pound black bass while fishing in the Sylvan lakes, James Latta managed to land his prize after a swim to shore. Latta was standing in the stern of his boat trolling his line when the suddenness with which the big fish struck caused him to lose his balance, and he went overboard into 20 feet of water.—Burlington (N. J.) dispatch to Philadelphia Record.

THROUGH JAIL WALL TO HYMN

Forty prisoners in the city jail here sang "Nearer, My God, to Thee," last night, while digging through the jail wall with a sharp piece of steel to make their escape. A party of camp meeting religionists were in jail charged with disturbing the peace.—Sioux City (Iowa) Dispatch to Chicago Tribune.

A Curious Fact

It is worthy of attention in these times of international money discussion, that in past history, in all periods of war and depression, the value of diamonds has gone up, not down. This is due to their being of large value in small bulk. Owing to the universal acceptance of their intrinsic value, like gold or silver, they become readily exchangeable in comparison with other merely representative forms of property.

In America, where we are so free of these foreign exchange traditions, it is well to understand some of the laws of value. We predict for this fall a stability of values for the diamond known in no other commodity.

WOMEN FROM 45 to 55 TESTIFY

To the Merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during Change of Life.

Westbrook, Me. — "I was passing through the Change of Life and had pains in my back and side and was so weak I could hardly do my housework. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has done me a lot of good. I will recommend your medicine to my friends and give you permission to publish my testimonial." — Mrs. LAWRENCE MARTIN, 12 King St., Westbrook, Maine.

Manston, Wis. — "At the Change of Life I suffered with pains in my back and loins until I could not stand. I also had night-sweats so that the sheets would be wet. I tried other medicine but got no relief. After taking one bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I began to improve and I continued its use for six months. The pains left me, the night-sweats and hot flashes grew less, and in one year I was a different woman. I know I have to thank you for my continued good health ever since." — Mrs. M. J. BROWNELL, Manston, Wis.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled in such cases.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

BRIGHT FUTURE FOR WINE INDUSTRY OF STATE

Secretary of Local Grape Protective Association Gives Reasons

Reported That $12 Per Ton Being Paid for Wine Grapes Now

Contrary to opinions that have been expressed by several complaining wine grape growers recently, those in touch with the situation in this vicinity state that there is a brighter future in sight for growers of wine grapes than has been experienced at any time in the past.

"It is assured that outing from this season, wine grape profits will be greater than before," stated Thomas Brazill, secretary of the Fresno County Grape Protective Association, last night. In support of this assertion Brazill cited the fact that Europe's wine industry has been entirely wiped out for the time being by the existing conflict, which will cause a vast demand shortly that only the United States can supply.

"It has been said by certain grape growers," stated Brazill "that the price paid by eastern wine makers is as high as $65 a ton. The fact of the matter is that such a price was paid last year by grape juice people who are offering only $12 and $15 a ton this year.

"Mr. W. H. Stewart, president of the Stewart Fruit Company, has stated in a letter to the California Grape Protective Association, that this reduction to $12 and $15 a ton in the east is due to the fact that the grape-juice people are not in the field for such a big percentage of the crop as they were after last season.

"The extreme price paid last year by the grape-juice people throughout Michigan, northern Ohio and western New York was caused from the fact that numerous concerns went into the business of manufactureing grape juice and the competition among them for goods naturally resulted in high prices being paid.

"Evidently, however, the anticipations of the people engaged in the grape-juice business were not realized so far as the demand was concerned, with the result hat this year grapes are down to a normal basis.

"A further reason why the wine business of California will increase and naturally result in higher prices being paid for wine grapes," said Brazill, "is the fact that the Pomerene amendment increasing the tax on the brandy used in fortifying wines, was defeated.

"Incidentally this defeat brought about an official investigation which disclosed that eastern manufacturers were making so-called wines from grape skins and sugar which were sold in competition to pure food California wines. Under date of February 16, 1914, the United States Treasury Department ruled that all such so-called wines must be labeled as imitation wines.

"Local wine manufacturers declare that this ruling practically abolished all competition of such eastern wines to California made product, thus creating a much greater demand for California sweet wines."

Brazill stated that while he had no accurate information as to what prices would be paid for wine grapes this year, he has heard that several buyers are paying $12 a ton and that it is generally believed that between $11 and $13 will be paid throughout the season.

Public Administrator Andrews petitioned yesterday for letters in the estate of Carl Schilling, who died on August 29, 1914, leaving as only heir a sister whose name, age and residence are at present unknown. The estate is valued in round figures at $18,700, of which $9,000 represents notes and mortgages and $8,150 is the value of Fresno city and Selma lots, 20 acres of farming land and 40 of Fresno Colony.

To my many good friends who so kindly supported me during the primary campaign, I wish to express my appreciation of your efforts in my behalf and earnestly solicit the continued support of yourself and friends at the general election in November.

Yours sincerely,
JAKE J. PHILLIPS,

COLONISTS COMING WITH RUSH IN OCTOBER

Railroads Expect Fall Rates to Boost Business

Huge Advertising Campaign Now On for Fall Traffic

In an effort to boost their business for this fall, low colonist rates have been made by the railroads that are to go into effect on September 25 and last for the ensuing two weeks. At first it was feared by the roads that they would not be able to do very much in this way, as war conditions have made them very dull business period to date, and they have feared that they would not be able to do a great deal better this fall, even with the cut price inducements for travel.

Reports from Eastern and even coast offices, are to the effect that, while they will not handle a near as brisk rush of business as they have had in the past, they will have a fair travel this fall. Several reservations have already been made in Fresno by residents here who are arranging for their friends to come from the East and take up their permanent residence here, and from indications the rates will give the roads a moderate rush of business period this fall.

More ingenuity than has usually been the case has been used this season in getting up advertising material, and after reading it the wonder is that all of the residents of the East do not come to the West. All of the routes operating through territory wherein they expect to obtain in many of the immigration business, have printed goodly numbers of booklets that they are now distributing to stimulate their traffic.

For a time this summer it was doubtful as to whether the rates would be put into effect, but the final decision was made late, as the coal chiefs have feared a stagnation of their business, and inaugurated the rates again this year in order to try to stimulate their business. All of the Eastern agents have received instructions to work their hardest to induce passengers to make the western trips this fall. Special trains, of course, will be placed on the different roads to handle those westbound.

That most of the traffic so far booked is destined for either the San Joaquin valley or the southern part of the state, seems to be a strange fact, adduced from scanning the registration of destinations. This should presage a good fall for the roads here, and also for the land dealers and owners, as most of those who travel from the East are coming here with the primary and principal desire of making their permanent homes in this section of the state.

Thousands of circulars and cards are being dispatched daily from all of the general headquarters of the railways on the coast, and a monster advertising campaign, telling of the advantages of living in California, is now in full swing in the East. The benefits of this campaign will mostly be harvested this fall, but it will also react to the good of the state next year, as none of the literature fails to tell of the great expositions that are to be held in California in 1915.

The aim of the roads is to keep constantly before the public the fact that most excellent rates are being offered for their coming west this fall, but that if they do not, they should come next year.

SOCIALIST SPEAKS ON EIGHT HOUR LAW

Says M. M. & E. Association Are Its Only Real Opponents

That all opposition to the eight hour law is coming from the Merchants', Manufacturers' and Employers' Association with Harrison Grey Otis in the foremost ranks of the opponents, was the assertion made last night by Howard H. Caldwell, Socialist candidate for Congress, who spoke in court house park. Caldwell is the father of the eight-hour law. He touched briefly on its benefits but devoted most of his time to the arguments that are being made against it.

The assertion that the law injures the interests of the farmers was branded as being ridiculous. The law provides for over-time work by employes in cases of emergency, said Caldwell, and rapid ripening of fruit, danger from rain or similar circumstances come under the law.

Caldwell will remain in Fresno today and tomorrow. Tonight he will speak at the court house fountain on the causes of the European war and the danger of the United States being drawn into the turmoil. Friday night he will secure the bandstand if possible and will speak on the subject of Socialism.

RE-ELECT OLD CHURCH BOARD

The old board of trustees was unanimously re-elected at the meeting of the First Christian church congregation last night. Members of the board are W. D. Bowen, W. W. Eden, F. H. Lonsdale, Ed L. Allen and J. L. Hartzell. Election of deacons, deaconesses and elders will be held next Wednesday night. The anniversary of the church will also be celebrated.

REPORT MAD DOG NEAR RIVERDALE

Quarantine Officer Sent to Take Charge; Man Bitten

In response to a report from Justice of the Peace Bennetts at Riverdale, Quarantine Officer Scales left last night to investigate where a mad dog had bitten several canines and cattle. Scales will request the owner of the dogs bitten by the rabid dog to keep their animals under close observation for the next three or four days. The rabid dog has not been captured and is reported in the country near Riverdale. Several shots were taken at the dog by men after the canine had bitten several other dogs. The shots went wild and the dog escaped.

Henry Baker, a rancher, was bitten by a mad dog. His hand was clawed. County Health Officer G. L. Long received the call from Justice of the Peace Bennetts and sent Quarantine Officer Scales to investigate. As there is a big cattle grazing country about Riverdale it is feared an epidemic may be started if the mad dog is not caught and killed or the dogs that have been bitten kept under guard.

IN THE LODGE ROOM

Jr. O. U. A. M.

At the regular meeting of Geo. George Washington Council No. 49, Junior Order United American Mechanics, this evening at Odd Fellows hall, the representatives to the state council, which met at Los Angeles last week, will make their official reports. Much interest was manifest in this year's state session, and the coming year promises to be a very successful one for Juniorism.

The state council has offered as a prize to the council making the largest gain in membership this year, a magnificent banner or its equivalent in lodge paraphernalia, at the option of the winning council. The local council is already making plans to win this big prize, and the famous degree team of Starr King Council No. 6 of San Francisco will probably be brought to Fresno to initiate a large class of candidates this fall.

The younger contingent are delighted in having two recently graduated boarding school favorites to swell the list at home this season. Miss Doris Shaver, and Miss Dorothy Patterson, having been graduates at Miss Ransom's school in Piedmont last spring.

* * * *

Miss Louise Bean, who has been a student at Castelleo near Palo Alto will also be at home this winter to participate in the activities of the young buds.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Loy Hennett (Edith Moxsey) have returned from a delightful honeymoon trip spent at San Diego and the southern beaches.

* * * *

Mrs. Frank Condon returned yesterday from a pleasant outing at the southern beaches.

* * * *

Mrs. A. E. Chartrand and daughters returned early in the week from a summer's sojourn at Pacific Grove.

* * * *

Miss Zeta Thomas left yesterday for a short visit with friends in San Francisco.

* * * *

Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Monson, and daughters, Misses Eleanor and Dorothy Monson, have returned from Pacific Grove, where they spent two months of the summer season.

* * * *

Mrs. Floyd Burks has returned from a several weeks' outing in San Francisco.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Robb return today from Santa Cruz, where they have summered. Part of the vacation was enjoyed in side trips to Mt. Hermon and Seabright, where they spent some time.

* * * *

Reve J. N. Green, who is spending some time at his ranch in the Sierras, is down for a week end visit with his family at their home on Tuolumne street.

* * * *

Miss Myrtle Harrell, who has been visiting relatives in San Francisco during the summer, has returned home.

* * * *

Miss Margaret Cory left on Tuesday night for Stanford University, where she will enter on her senior course of studies.

* * * *

The Mission Aid Society of the Malaga Baptist church will meet this afternoon with Mrs. S. S. Bagley.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Wilbur are stopping at the Key Route Inn while in Oakland.

* * * *

Prof. and Mrs. George Hastings have returned from a most enjoyable two months' vacation, whose itinerary included visits to the notable resorts from Carmel-by-the-Sea as far north as Shasta Springs. A view of one of the Mt. Lassen eruptions was an interesting feature of the trip.

* * * *

Rev. and Mrs. Thomas Burden will return this evening from a month's sojourn in southern California, at Goleta.

* * * *

L. M. Dodson, Theo. P. Shelton and C. K. Hoover are among the Fresnans registered at the Key Route Inn in Oakland this week.

* * * *

Mrs. B. F. Cathcart is enjoying a visit from her sister, Mrs. F. Leonard of Saginaw, Mich., who will spend the month of September in Fresno. Mrs. Cathcart contemplates a trip east, accompanying her sister back to Michigan, while Mr. Cathcart will join her later in the year, planning an interesting visit to his boyhood home in New York.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Chapman and daughter Inez returned from Santa Cruz Wednesday after a two-month's sojourn at that place. Mr. Chapman is much improved in health.

* * * *

Mrs. Louis Soloman and daughter, Gertrude, will return next week from a two months' outing in San Francisco and other Bay points.

* * * *

* * * *

Friendly Circle of the Belmont Avenue Presbyterian church will meet this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Brown, 1445 White avenue.

* * * *

Mrs. I. Beaten entertained on Tuesday evening at her home on Effie street, complimenting her niece, Miss Georgia Stroble and Miss Gertrude Campbell, of Bakersfield, who are her house guests. Cards and dancing provided the evening's entertainment, which was very happily concluded by the serving of supper.

Among those included in the party were Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Ewing, Misses Mary Garret, Lily Brant of San Francisco, Nell Vickors, Elsie Carlson, Mrs. I. Beaten, Messrs. George Eller, Clyde Beaten, Scottie Spencer of San Jose, Wayne Vickors, Harold Woodruff, Dick Owen, Harry Rogers, Ray Wheelock.

* * * *

The regular meeting of the Friendly Circle of the Belmont Avenue Presbyterian church will be held this afternoon with Mrs. Charles E. Brown, 1455 White avenue. A full attendance is urged as business of importance is to be transacted.

* * * *

Misses Mattie and Mabel Bates, 3070 McKenzie avenue left Wednesday for Raymond to attend the wedding of their niece Miss Elizabeth B. Winans, which will occur Sept. 4. Miss Winans was a former resident of Malaga and a frequent visitor in Fresno, and her many friends will be pleased to learn of her approaching marriage.

What Anne Rittenhouse Says About the Styles

PARIS, Sept. 3. Some new Scotch clans must have come into being recently, if one is to judge by the new plaids that are shown at the openings the dressmakers are rushed to despite the war. These clans do not boast the time-honored reds and blues and yellows, greens, whites and blacks of their clans. They have adopted the rich, deep colors that make the clothes of this summer distinctive.

One plaid shown by Callot was in shades of brown. It was combined with black and dark blue in a street suit.

At the Premet opening plaids were used. One suit had a plaid velvet jacket and a plain cloth skirt. Another suit had a plaid slip yoke at the sides of the skirt and a plaid collar on the coat.

A plaid of dull cerise and purple with a generous interminglingof black threads was used for the foundation skirt of a striking suit I saw the other day. There was a long, pointed tunic of blue serge, and the bodice was made of the plaid and serge combined.

In Premet's rather abbreviated opening a novelty material shown was a black silk plaided with velvet bands. It is very interesting, and it marks the tendency to plaid or stripe one fabric by applying bands of another.

The New Stripes.

The new stripe materials are made in the same way—by applying strips of one material on another.

A smart frock worn not long ago by a smart woman was made of white satin. There was a long net tunic, edged at the bottom with a band of royal blue velvet and the tunic was striped from top to bottom with strips of blue velvet ribbon of three different widths. And a smart little blouse which I saw a few days later was made of black chiffon plaided with bands of brocaded velvet in deep shades of red, blue and gold.

This idea of striping or plaiding a plain fabric by applying bands of some contrasting fabric—silk, velvet or fur—is very good.

Another new idea is to use striped silk as a foundation for lace or tulle ruffles and flounces. A charming evening frock is made with black Chantilly ruffles mounted on black and white striped silk—the stripes fully an inch wide.

Short coat of brown velvet, with skirt, and collar and cuffs of checks.

Hints to the Sewer

Always thread silk into a needle by putting the end of the silk the extra before it is unwound from the spool in the eye first. If the silk is put in from the end you break or cut it unitists more easily than if it is threaded from the other end.

Don't bite threads. It is an easy thing to have a small pair of scissors always handy. You can have one fastened about your belt with a piece of ribbon or tape. Biting thread is a bad habit because it breaks the enamel on the teeth, thus making work for the dentist probable.

Clip all bastings to be removed at five or six inch intervals. They can then be pulled out without wrinkling the fabric.

Always have a little bottle of machine oil at hand. A drop of oil often transforms a stiff, heavy action into one that is perfectly smooth and easy, flat never use much oil. A drop of two applied at the right spot is enough. Always run a piece of waste muslin through the machine after oiling it, so that any oil that finds its way to the needle may be absorbed.

If you are making a skirt or waist with plaits or tucks in it, try pressing them into place before basting them. Pin them in two or three places and press with a cool iron, removing the pins as you come to them. It is then an easy matter to baste the plaits or tucks exactly in place.

Don't sew on black at night. It is very trying on the eyes. White sewing is the only sort that ought to be done a night, and that should be done in a clear, shaded light.

Never sew in the dusk. Nothing tires or injures the eyes so quickly as doing fine sewing in an insufficient light.

When you are making your own frocks, take advantage of the many small touches that you can easily acquire to give a professional look to your work. One is machine hemstitching, which gives an admirable finish to silk or linen collars and cuffs. All you have to do is to turn the material under at the edge, and baste through the two thicknesses on the line where you want the hemstitching. If you want a pleat edge, baste a line in a single thickness of material. Another professional touch is gained by the use of pinning of various sorts for narrow frills and for ruffles. Then there are covered buttons of various sorts that you can have made from any material you choose.

Don't stuff pin cushions with cotton. It is very difficult to get pins into a cotton-stuffed cushion. Instead stuff the sewing-room pin cushion—as well as all others—with hair, or fulling hair, with sawdust.

Did You Ever Consider These Advantages

In regard to buying your ranch home? The proximity to a great consuming population. The best cement roads right from your little ranch into the heart of this immense population who are ready and eager to take all your products. Your ranch located so that within a few minutes you can take your stuff right down here and get the maxuma and in a few minutes be back home again.

I was raised on a farm in Kansas 150 miles from any city of any moment. We were all producers and the consumers 150 miles down the railroad track. If we had a carload of hogs we could handle the proposition all right. But if some pear devil had 5 eggs more than he needed for his family, he couldn't do much with them; the middlemen, the railroads, the accidents of carriage took five of the eggs.

OUTLAW REFORMS AT REQUEST OF GIRL

SHERIFF'S DAUGHTER'S EFFORTS MAKES HAPPINESS

Thrilling scene from "The Outlaw Reforms"—At the Pastime.

To be sent out into outlawry by the cruelty of one's fellow men—that is the story of many of those who live without the law, those who prey on their fellow men. We blame them, never looking beyond the surface, never thinking what heartaches they may have endured, what disappointments. We go serenely and virtuously on, leaving them to succumb to temptation; nay, even forcing them into it.

And thus it was with the Outlaw. His father was a squatter, and not held in favor. Everyone's hand seemed against him. When the father died, all hands were against his son. His youth was more or less embittered by this unkindness.

One day the foreman of the Diamond Ranch meets the Outlaw. But this is before he has given up the protection of the law and chosen to live outside of it. He has been a quiet, law-abiding citizen, though sorely tempted. Prospecting has absorbed his time and energies, and he has just made the strike that is to bring him wealth as the foreman comes upon him. Tex, the foreman, flies on the claim.

Then misfortunes fairly step on each other's toes in order to wait on him. The Outlaw's father is killed within a few days and the rascally foreman steals his claim from him. With nothing to bind him to the law, with nothing to make him respect it, with every tie severed, he indeed becomes an outlaw.

And his thought is to make all of those who have lived within the law pay for his misfortunes. He is a successful outlaw. He is enthusiastic in it. He takes a deep and lively delight in harassing and terrorizing the people of the countryside.

Posse after posse go after him and come home empty-handed. Reckless, resourceful, young, the Outlaw is not to be taken. Sheriffs stake their reputation on his capture and lose.

A woman's kindness takes away his wildness and he settles down to the ways of peace. It is as beautiful a tale as the films ever told and at the same time one that is full of action all through.

Only Sure Corn Cure Ever Known

"Gets-It" the New Way, 2 Drops Do It

To endure the pains and tortures caused by a little thing like a corn is ridiculous, simply because it is unnecessary. The new-plan corn cure,

"GETS-IT," is the first one ever known to remove corns without pain, without trouble. This is why it is the biggest-selling corn cure in existence today. It is now used by millions, because it does away with sticky tape, with plasters and cotton rings that shift their position and press down onto the corn, with salves that "raw up" the toe, with "harnesses" that cause pressure and pain, with knives, razors and files, clawing and pulling at a corn.

"GETS-IT" is applied in two seconds. Two drops applied with the glass rod do the work. Pain goes, the corn shrivels, vanishes. Accept no substitute. Try it on any corn, wart, callus or bunion tonight.

"GETS-IT" is sold by druggists everywhere, 25c a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

"GETS-IT" is sold in Fresno by San Joaquin Drug Co.

HAIR FELL OUT BY HANDFULS

Also Had Itching Burning Scalp. Hair Thin, Dry and Lifeless. Could Not Sleep on Account of Itching. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Healed.

Kalkaska, Mich. — "My hair began falling out about five years ago and I also had itching and burning of the scalp. My hair fell out by handfuls and it was thin, dry and lifeless. I could not sleep well on account of the itching. My hair became so thin I commenced using 'rats' and switches until I had lost so much hair there was not enough remaining to cover the 'rats.'

"I used ——, also quantities of —— and ——— which did not relieve the torture which at times was almost unbearable, especially at night. I was obliged to bathe my head in soda water in order to get any rest. I then tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment, rubbing the Cuticura Ointment into the scalp at night and washing it out in the morning with Cuticura Soap. It was about four weeks when I was entirely cured." (Signed) Mrs. Henry Frisk, March 21, 1914.

Samples Free by Mail

The itching, burning, suffering and loss of sleep of eczemas, rashes, and irritations of the skin and scalp are at once relieved and permanent skin health restored in most cases by warm baths with Cuticura Soap followed by gentle applications of Cuticura Ointment when all else fails. Cuticura Soap (25c.) and Cuticura Ointment (50c.) are sold everywhere. A single set is often sufficient. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. "TREY OF HEARTS" IS SENSATIONAL SERIAL

This Noted Picture Film Is Being Shown at Bijou Theater

Twins with the physical likeness that twins nearly always have, but with dispositions that are in nowise similar, take the lead parts in the great serial "The Trey o' Hearts," at the Bijou for this time.

"The Trey o' Hearts," is the serial that follows the sensational Lucille Love pictures which drew such crowded houses. The Bijou will run the new serial in the same manner and it will run on Thursdays, two reels each Thursday.

Trine, a cripple, hates Law. Trine has two daughters, Rose and Judith, twins. Law has one son, Alan. Trine is a vengeful man, and at the mere mention of Law's name, a baleful gleam lights up his eye. He lives for vengeance and every waking thought is given to satisfying his longing for revenge. Yet his injury is but fancied. But his passion is none the less strong nor is his determination dulled by this fact.

Fate, however, intervenes as she so often does, and death takes law before Trine can wreak his revenge. But not to be cheated, he swears one of his daughters a dreadful oath that she pursues Law's son to his death.

And again fate takes a hand.

This time it is through the other daughter, Rose, who nows naught of this nor of the fact that Trine even bears enmity toward Law and the son of Law. And with the unreasoning rudder of Love as a guide, she falls in love with Alan Law, victim of her father's unfaltering and unwavering wrath.

Trine has used the trey of hearts as a warning to Law that he is about to strike. Rose has used a red rose, not more wonderful than her own vivid beauty, as a call for help to Alan if she should need him. Trine learns of this and with characteristic treachery sends Alan a note, drawing the latter to the wilds of the North Maine woods.

Judith, true to her oath, and without compunction or fear or compassion, lures Alan into a trap and attempts to kill him. But Alan escapes and later saves Judith's life.

When Judith leaves Alan and goes to her camp, the latter is left alone in the woods without weapon or protection. He instinctively feels that he is being followed. His nervousness increases till in his agitation he blindly walks off a cliff and falls into a fast-rushing stream below. And this time he is saved by Judith, a reciprocal action that leaves them each debtor to the other's favor.

In the meantime Rose has received a note asking her to visit Alan's lawyer. The latter is worried Alan has been lost sight of. Marrophat, Trine's spy, learns of The visit and tells Trine who reproaches Rose, accusing her of disloyalty. And then as her father reaches for the bell to summon villainous servants who will imprison her, Rose roughly pushes him aside, searches rapidly through his desk, and discovers papers proving his trickery toward Alan. Then she starts for the north of Maine.

Alan's exposure and hardships have brought on an attack of fever through which he is tenderly nursed by Judith.

A guide is sent to a nearby village for quinine, but he buys whiskey instead and becomes dead to the world. When the guide fails to return Judith goes for the medicine. But before she goes she cuts a rose and leaves it on Alan's bed. She has unconsciously chosen the sign used by her twin sister.

On her way to town, Judith and her guide are passed by Rose and her guide, but neither know this. Rose arrives at the cabin where she is profusely thanked by Alan, who believes that it was Rose who nursed him. Rose is mystified at this. The rose has deceived Alan.

The guide arrives to tell them that Judith is returning. Rose persuades Alan to come with her. They launch a canoe and make their escape, but not until they have come within gun range of Judith. She raises her rifle to fire—then lowers it. Something stops her from committing the murder she has taken oath to perform.

And Rose suspects the reason.

Judith, too, is in love with Alan.

Reservations Should Be Made Now for Gala Night

Saturday night, September 26 is the date set for the big doings at the Commercial club. That night the club members will entertain all of their friends with a de luxe cabaret show and supper and the announcement of the entertainment committee, made last night, is certain to please members and their friends.

Summer months here are generally dull in the way of entertainment, and for this reason the commercial club, some time ago, decided to arrange for a cabaret night as soon as possible. Stunts will be shown this night that have been undreamt of heretofore in Fresno. Entertainers, the best in their line on the Coast, will be on hand, to while away the evening, and eats, such as only the club's great chef can prepare, will be served.

The rooms will all be thrown together, and the center of the floors cleared for the dance, and with every course there will be suitable music and different steps. Skilled demonstrators of the latest dance steps will be on hand to illustrate their personal interpretation of the latest in terpsichore, and those who are not up to the minute in modern dances can learn all that they desire this night.

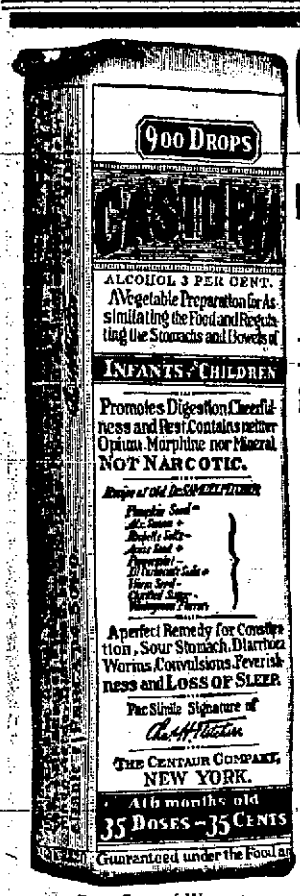

The evening's entertainment will be strictly informal, and the dinner, dance, and cabaret will be one of the most pretentious affairs that the club has staged here since it has been in existance. Reservations for tables will be accepted at once, and anyone desiring to attend for this evening's merriment had better make their reservations at once so that they will not be disappointed.

POLITICAL CAMPAIGN HALTS TILL AFTER SEPTEMBER 15

Fresno County Awaits Official Count of Votes

Committees' Personnel About Same As Before Election

Although Governor Johnson and John M. Eshleman will start their campaign for election today, generally speaking, the campaign for the general election will not be begun until after September 15. On that date the state conventions of the five parties are to hold their conventions in Sacramento.

In Fresno county, the various committees are awaiting the result of the official count of votes at the primary election. The new county committees elected at this primary will have practically the same personnel as the old committees that have been in existence, either by virtue of the campaign two years ago or by virtue of self appointment. This applies to the Progressives, Republicans and Democrats. For this reason none of the committees have occasion to wait to see who was elected, but rather are awaiting to find out definitely just who has been nominated.

It is declared in Democratic circles that if the vote shows that Curtin has received the Democratic nomination for governor, a vigorous campaign will be waged for him. If the vote, however, shows that Hall has been nominated, it is said that the committee support will not be as vigorous and that a great deal of strength will turn to Governor Johnson. Even though Curtin is nominated, is is asserted that a large portion of the Democratic strength of the county is going to Johnson.

The vote at the primary election on the Republican ticket demonstrated that thousands who are registered as Republicans have little use for the "regular" Republican candidates, in the minds of many politicians, and for this reason it is asserted that Governor Johnson and Eshleman will poll a large percentage of the Republican vote at the November election.

The fact that John M. Eshleman, Progressive, polled nearly as many votes on the Republican ticket as John D. Fredericks, who received the Republican nomination and the further fact that every Progressive who sought a Republican nomination, with one single exception, secured the Republican nomination by an overwhelming majority over the "regular" Republican candidates, is evidence that the great registration about which the Republicans boasted before the primary election, has developed absolutely nothing but the certainty that regardless of party affiliations, the people favor the Progressive administration, according to well informed politicians.

The Progressives of Fresno county already have headquarters established in the Lynch building at the corner of Tulare and M streets and will maintain their headquarters there until after the general election. The Republicans have been maintaining headquarters in a room adjoining the office of Gen. M. W. Muller in the Forsyth building and may continue to occupy these headquarters, although nothing definite will be known until the new committee meets. The Democrats have no headquarters now but are looking for some and may locate within the next week or two.

HEART DISEASE

Twenty-five per cent of which have their origin in the digestive tract. Most of the so-called "heart diseases" are stomach troubles. The stomach being located just beneath the heart, fermentation of food causes pressure on the heart, and this starts palpitation and irregularity of heart beat, and probably in time may set up a regular heart disease. When your stomach is diseased it is liable to produce gases that will press the heart to such an extent as to make it impossible for it to work.

It is often that this gas pressure against the heart brings thousands to an untimely end, who by taking proper care of their stomachs and taking a few doses of M. A. C. in time, might have lived to a ripe old age. Take warning and send for a sample bottle of M. A. C. before it is too late—it stops all fermentation of food and quickly eliminates the undigested matter that produces those dangerous and deadly gases.

RESERVISTS' CALL TO COLORS REVOKED

Original Order and Wire Cancelling It Made Public By German

To prove his recent statement that German reservists in Fresno are not required to report at present to the Imperian Consulate in San Francisco, Henry Bobzien, a German reservist of the Imperial Hunters' Batallion last night divulged communications which he has received from the German consul-general in San Francisco. In denial of a published report that local Germans who are reservists of the German army were required to report at once in San Francisco, Bobzian recently gave out a statement in which he said that the reservists are not now wanted.

As a result several local Germans, says Bobzien, have disputed the statement. Bobzien admits that a call was received here but says that it was revoked the following day by telegram. The original call, he says, was received August 3 from the German consul-general in San Francisco. It reads as follows:

On command of His Majesty, the Emperor and King, a general mobilization of the Imperial Army and Navy is proclaimed.

All Germans that are under obligation to serve and all soldiers with leave of absence (reserves and country defenders, first and second class) from the army and navy are hereby ordered to return to Germany as soon as possible and place themselves at disposal at the nearest military station.

All leaves of absence are herewith revoked. Men without means can secure travelling expenses at the Imperial Consulate.

This order, mailed August 3 in San Francisco, was received here by Bobzien August the morning of August 4 and the same day he received a telegram as follows:

San Francisco, Cal. August 4, 1914.

Henry Bobzien,
Fresno, Cal.

Will notify you as soon as transportation from New York is possible.

German Consulate.

It is evident from the dispute which has arisen between local Germans that not every reservist in Fresno received communications of the nature of those sent to Bobzien who said last night that several fellow countrymen have since told him that he did not know what he was talking about when he gave out for publication the statement that German reservists were not required to report in San Francisco at present.

SPECIAL RATES FOR THE FAIR

Railroads to Grant Fare and Third Rates; All Points From Los Angeles to S. F.

How the railroads regard the Fresno District Fair for this year can be gleaned from the territory covered by the special rates to be granted this year.

Heretofore rates of a fare and a third have been given between Stockton and Bakersfield, but the nature of the events are of such increased interest this year that the special rates are good from Los Angeles to Fresno and from Sacramento and San Francisco to Fresno.

These tickets are good from September 28 to October 4, inclusive, being one day before the Fresno District Fair and one day after the fair. This will give time for visitors to see all there is to see.

Assurance has been received from the Southern Pacific that they will grant the rates outlined above and it is practically assured that the Santa Fe will give the same rates as they have always done in the past.

Many of the features of the Fair for this year are of state-wide interest. The athletic meet is one of these. The balloon flight will probably attract national attention, as it is an experiment that has been discussed for many years but which has never been attempted. The auto races are expected to bring many of the fastest drivers of the West to this city.

ACCUSE BURGAN OF NON-SUPPORT

Mrs. Marguerite V. Burgan appeared before Justice of the Peace Smith yesterday and swore to a complaint charging Edward Burgan with failing to provide for his son, Harold, aged 19 years. Burgan was arrested some time ago on the same charge and was released from custody with the understanding he would contribute to the support of his son. According to the complaint filed yesterday he has neglected to do so for the last four months. Burgan is the son of the former constable at Sanger, who was the oldest peace officer in the county at the time of his death.

TRIES TO SELL STOLEN TOOLS

When George Conley attempted to sell stolen tools at a second hand store on I street yesterday he was taken into custody by Detective Goehring and Patrolman Bradley. Conley was attempting to sell tools that were stolen some time ago from F. L. Thomas. He was charged with petit larceny and will be arraigned in police court this morning.

FALLING BOARD HITS WORKMAN

ASKS DAMAGES FOR ELECTRIC SHOCKS

To bring himself in court within the time limit, Rolla R. Anderson brought suit yesterday against H. Graff & Company for $5,100 damages on account of electric shocks which he says have had the result of withering and shrinking his left arm so as to unfit him for general employment. The accident occurred on September 3, 1913, while in charge of the store telephone to receive orders of customers. The telephone was equipped with a receiver strapped to the head and it is claimed that the wire connections were not insulated. Anderson received two shocks, the electric fluid passing into his body through the little finger of the left hand.

GOOD PROGRESS IS MADE AT BAY

Most excellent progress is being reported by the San Joaquin Valley Counties' association in their installation work at the San Diego exposition and in their permanent headquarters at San Francisco. Francis Hope, in charge of the bay headquarters at 457 Market street, writes that they are about all prepared to receive visitors, and that all of the interior decorations are well under way, as well as a great deal of the exhibit matter ready for display. Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Wessels at San Diego write that they have a large force of men employed there and that they are rushing their work as rapidly as possible.

STATE FAIR TO HAVE BIG MELON

M. S. Yeretsian of Blythe avenue, between Church and Johnson streets, near the city limits, brought in one of the most magnificent specimens of the Chilian watermelon, that has been received by the Chamber of Commerce. The melon, weighing 57 pounds, and perfect in contour and coloring, is certain to attract a great deal of attention when it is shown at the state fair in Sacramento.

PLAY BILLIARDS AT Y. M. TONIGHT

With eight entered, the first of a series of billiard tournaments will be played tonight at the Young Men's Christian Associations. The elimination contests will be twenty-five points each with the final game of fifty points, providing the contestants have sufficient time. Only four had entered last night but the rest of the players will enter today.

California Oil

CALIFORNIA OIL TO BE SHIPPED ABROAD

Standard to Supply Europe and Union to Ship to Chile; Notes

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 2.—In the past few days the Standard Oil company has made a few shipments of oil to foreign ports, and with other shipments showing prospects of being started, easement of the present tense situation in the oil business is expected. The suspension of shipments to South America has been caused not so much by fear of hostile warships out of San Francisco, as by lack of demand for oil. The South American nitrate mines and railroads used much of the oil there, and these have been closed down since the war started. Their products were shipped to Europe for consumption or manufacture. Closing down, they needed no oil, shutting off one profitable market.

The Standard Oil company will send out one vessel in a few days, but its cargo will be placed in storage. It is reported that the Standard of New York is loading at both New York and San Francisco, with the vessels sailing under the British flag. This action sets aside the rumors that the Standard would sail under the American colors.

A deal is being closed by the Union Oil company to supply the Chile Exploration company in South America with fuel oil, starting deliveries in December, the contract being for a minimum of 90,000 barrels a month, and a maximum of 225,000 barrels. The exploration company is an exploration company with extensive mining interests, and can be counted on to take close to the maximum of its contract.

Two steel tanks in the Midway fields have been completed for the California Oil Fields, Ltd., (Royal Dutch-Shell) by the Llewellyn Iron Works company of Los Angeles.

An attempt is being made at Washington by the McKittrick Oil company to secure a dismissal of the proceedings to contest its application for patent to 160 acres of oil land in section 1, 30-23, at McKittrick. The contest was filed by a field agent, who alleged the company was fraudulently organized, and acquired the land illegally, despite the fact that the Supreme Court of California declared the McKittrick company legally in possession of the land. The field agent alleges that dummy locators secured the land for the McKittrick. The same charge was made against the McCutcheons, and later overruled in the land office at Los Angeles. Each of the company's locators received stock in the company. The McKittrick Oil company has patents for 700 acres of land, is at present pumping several wells, and would now be doing considerable development work but for the low price of oil.

DISCOVERY IS MADE OF WATER TROUBLES

Series of Tests Prove It to Come From Above, Not Bottom Water

FELLOWS, Sept. 2.—After a long series of tests the Kern County Oil Protective Association, has been entirely successful in shutting off the water of the No. 13 well of the C. C. M. O. company, on section 6, 32-23. In the overcoming of the infiltration in this hole, the general cause of the water trouble in the great district west of Fellows has been brought to a satisfactory conclusion. It was the general idea that bottom water which had at some point been admitted to the oil sand and had percolated the sand gradually and would eventually flood the field. This contention seemed logical because the wells thereabouts did not strike upper water when originally drilled. Geologist Latham dissented, believing the wells made their own upper water. Dye was introduced behind the water strings wherever possible and an elaborate series of tests made on a systematic plan. The work has extended over ten months. Enough evidence has been obtained to convince the association that the water comes from above, and that Mr. Latham's idea was correct. Among other tests, it was suggested to the C. C. M. O. company the advisability of taking the No. 13 well which was making a large amount of fluid, the greater part of which was water, and which is situated in the heart of the area under consideration and reranding the water string lower down. This was done with the result that the water was entirely shut off. This territory is some of the world's most valuable oil land. It is shallow, and the wells are drilled at a small cost, and as the sand is heavy, they are of long life. By means of the associations staff in the field and the hearty co-operation of all parties concerned, now that the real cause is found it can be readily corrected without great expense.

UNION OIL IS PAID OVER TWO MILLIONS

English Syndicate Paves Way to Obtain Control of California Co.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 2.—A total of $2,400,000 has been paid to the Union Oil company from the British financiers headed by Earl Grey and Andrew Weir, on the contract for the California petroleum properties which they seek to control. For this sum an equivalent amount of capital stock is to be delivered, even if the deal should not be consummated on account of European war conditions.

This information is contained in a special report of the Union Oil company, issued to stockholders yesterday. The figures of the balance sheet are for the six months ending June 30, 1914, and show the company in a secure financial condition.

Company Makes Report.

Under the terms of the contract between the company and Messrs. Andrew Weir and R. Tilden Smith, on behalf of the British Union Oil company, Limited," reads the report, "advances were made to the Union Oil Company of California, to June 30, 1914, of $4,820,000. The company's acceptance were granted for these advances, as owing to statutory provisions and other legal obstacles, it was not possible directly to deliver capital stock of this company in exchange at the time the advances were made. The company is, however, protected by the contract mentioned, which provides that these acceptances shall be renewable from time to time until capital stock is finally delivered in settlement, according to the terms of the contract. Since June 30, 1914, a further advance of the same nature has been received in amount of $480,000."

The financial statement is over the signature of John Garrigues, treasurer, and is certified to by R. D. Matthews, comptroller, the representative of the English interests.

The sales for the six months show an increase over the same period for the year 1913. The gross sales for the month of July were the largest in the history of the company's affairs, being just under $200,000. Average returns from sales represented an advance of approximately 7 cents per barrel over the prices obtained in 1913.

Exports Curtailed.

"It is probable that operations for the last half of the year 1914 will be more or less seriously interfered with, particularly in the export of fuel oil," reads the statement. "The company's own production of oil for the first six months of the year was 400,000 barrels greater than for the same period of 1913."

The profit for the six months ending June 30 was $1,327,428.83, bringing up the surplus to $2,403,301.12.

LAND CONDEMNED FOR SEWER SYSTEM

A judgment for $110 damages was awarded yesterday by Judge Austin in favor of George L. Karagay against the city of Sanger to compensate him for land condemned for the new sewer system of the town under the recent bond issue. The defendant defaulted in the case, but the city authorities did not take advantage of this fact and consented in court to pay what reasonable sum would be awarded for the land taken out of block 9 of South Villa addition to Sanger. Seventeen hundredths of an acre fronting on the railroad right of way between Walnut and Fig avenues were condemned for the 126.2x60 septic tank site and right of way from K street for the sewer pipe.

Sure Mike, I will be there Labor Day.

POLICY HOLDERS REPUDIATE NOTES

They Declare That Insurance Agents Deluded Them Into Signing Up

Appeals were perfected to the superior court yesterday from the judgments of Justice of the Peace G. W. Smith in two suits in favor of D. A. Dahlmeyer as assignee on notes of last July by M. Paloutzian of Fowler and Peter Harry of Sanger. The defendants contest liability on the notes because, as they claim, no consideration was given and because they were induced to sign under false representations.

Paloutzian says that J. A. Rudd and one Shamguchian induced him to sign the $245 note for insurance in the San Francisco Life Insurance company of California, declaring that his false statement as to his age to make him appear younger made no difference to the company but would put him in the way of receiving more money. The false representations invalidated the policy wherefore Paloutzian repudiated liability on the note. The judgment against him was for a total of $324.50.

Against Harry, a judgment for $268.03 was awarded. He says that the agents above named represented that the company would help him to a loan of money, provided he first made application for insurance. He did take out a policy but the loan never went through.

Thin People Can Increase Weight

Thin men and women who would like to increase their weight with 10 or 15 pounds of healthy "stay there" fat should try eating a little Sargol with their meals for a while and note results. Here is a good test worth trying. First weigh Yourself. Then take Sargol—one tablet with every meal—for two weeks. Then weigh and measure again. It isn't a question of how you look or feel or what your friends say and think. The scales and the tape measure will tell their own story, and most any thin man or woman can easily add from five to eight pounds in the first fourteen days by following this simple direction. And best of all, the new flesh stays put.

Sargol does not of itself make fat, but mixing with your food, it turns the fats sugars and starches of what you have eaten, into rich, ripe fat producing nourishment for the tissues and blood—prepares it in an easily assimilated form which the blood can readily accept. All this nourishment now passes from your body as waste. But Sargol stops the waste and does it quickly and makes the fat producing contents of the very same meals you are eating now develop pounds and pounds of healthy flesh between your skin and bones. Sargol is safe, pleasant, efficient and inexpensive. San Joaquin Drug Company, Webster Bros., Inc., Patterson Block Pharmacy, and other leading druggists in Fresno and vicinity sell it in large boxes—forty tablets to a package—on a guarantee of weight increase or money back.

Your Auto Painted With True Factory Finish

We Have the Largest Auto Painting Shop on the Coast and the Men and Equipment to do Work Equal to That Turned Out by the Largest and Best Factories

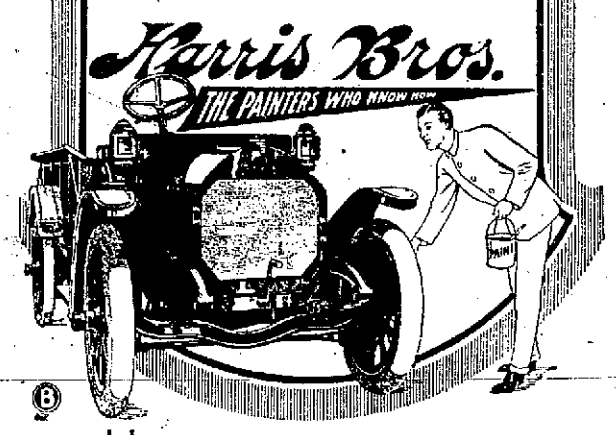

We are going to run in this paper a series of "shop talks." These will deal with the different departments of our big painting shop. It will tell you how we can give your auto a genuine factory finish. We will take you step by step through the biggest auto painting establishment in the state, one that employs the most expert specialists in the different processes, one where the utmost care is taken. We will explain why it is possible for us to do better work than is done in a less perfectly equipped shop.

Watch for these talks. They will be instructive.

Watch For This Cut In This Paper

In this space we will give instructive talks on auto painting.

Every owner of an auto will be interested because we will tell you just how we secure the genuine factory finish we are noted for giving.

21 Processes Used

In these talks we will tell you how your auto will go through 21 different processes before it is finished. We will give information on such important phases as the fact that a factory specialist puts on the last coat of varnish in an air-tight room where he can work but two hours at a time.

There are many such things, little in themselves, things you wouldn't think of, but which are all-important in giving the perfect finish you desire. It is these things that make our work so good that cars are sent from San Francisco to this shop.

We will tell you in our shop talks about our fireproof building with separate fireproof compartments. We will tell you about our specialists, about the personal attention, and will refer you to people who have had work done by us.

Make Your Car Look Like New

This is a suggestion merely.

But isn't your car becoming shabby? How about the paint? Wouldn't it BE as good as a new car if it looked as good as one?

We will tell you honestly and fairly just what we can do for your car. Quality work is the kind we do. You don't have to take our word. We don't want you to, because we have something more convincing—work on the floor that PROVES what we do.

Watch for these instructive talks.

SPIRITUALISTS OPEN CONVENTION TODAY

W. A. Phillips to Deliver Address of Welcome to Delegates

Reception Held Last Night at Hughes; Credentials Committee

A grand reception as a preliminary to the opening here today of the nineteenth session of the California State Spiritualist Society, was held last night at the Hughes hotel with two hundred present. One hundred of these are delegates to the convention, which will be called to order in Convention hall at 9 o'clock and will continue over Sunday.

W. W. Phillips, president of the Chamber of Commerce, will welcome the delegates. In the absence of Mayor A. E. Snow, Acting Mayor Jones will speak. C. A. Buss, president of the state association, will respond to the address of welcome.

At a meeting last night the credentials committee was appointed. The members are Adison E. Schooley, Pasadena, chairman; Gertrude Vinter, Oakland, and Mrs. Coverdale, Los Angeles. William Butler of Los Angeles was appointed convention orderly.

B. F. Sliter, president and pastor of the First Spiritualist church of Fresno, welcomed the delegates at the reception at the Hughes hotel last night. Mrs. Sliter of the Sunshine Club also spoke.

Addresses were delivered by Rufus Fisk, of San Jose, vice president of the association; Mrs. M. C. Blasek of Los Angeles, secretary of the association for four years; Mrs. Solonie Cowels of Oakland, Oscar A. Edgerly of Lilly Dale, New York; H. P. Courtney, of Los Angeles, treasurer of the association; H. C. W. Johnson of Los Angeles, Mrs. Diana Wilson of San Francisco, and Mrs. Carrie Wermouth Burzello of San Francisco.

SECOND BALOTING FOR POPE FAILS

ROME, via Paris, Sept. 2, 2:55 p. m. —The Sacred College of Cardinals assembled at 10 o'clock this morning for the third ballot in the papal election, but little more than an hour later, smoke issuing from the chimney of the Sistine chapel recalled to the anxious throng in St. Peter's square that an election had not been accomplished and the ballots were being burned in accordance with tradition.

SOCIALIST WOMEN TO MEET TONIGHT

The Women's Socialist Federation will meet tonight at 1216 J street. An address will be given by Mrs. Salyer. It is said that a great deal of interest has been taken in this organization and the Socialists expect a big attendance tonight.

BAKER DELEGATE OF LOCAL TYPOS

FOUR JAILED ON GAMBLING CHARGE

A dwelling at 735 M street was raided by Detective Goehring and Patrolman Linkos early last night and four men were arrested for gambling. They were lodged in jail and gave their names as L. Kewman, V. Kolden, Alex Cliff and Alex Karbo. The officers seized $17.40 and a deck of cards which will be held at police headquarters until the cases come to trial.

Suit for $1,000 damages was brought yesterday by the California Central Creameries against the Hanford and Summit Lake Railway Company and the Southern Pacific Company for running a railroad track as part of a railway system without consent of the owner across the northern portion of its land at Riverdale. The trespass is alleged to date back to October, 1911.

RECLAMATION MEN HOLD HEARINGS IN VALLEY

Series of Meetings Are Being Held By Assessors

Inaugurate Gigantic Reclamation Project in Interior

A. E. Chandler, Max Enderlein, and Alexander Brown, members of the board of assessors for the state reclamation district formed in the San Joaquin and Sacramento valleys, have been busy since the first of the week gathering data and hearing objections against their first assessment of $250,000 that is to be levied on the lands most to be benefited. They spent Tuesday morning in Fresno, holding their sessions in Judge Church's rooms at the court house. Saturday they were at Madera, this morning they will be in session at Merced, and tomorrow in Modesto.

These hearings will be all that will be held in the San Joaquin valley for some time. The assessors are meeting a number of the property owners, and are gathering a wealth of material to aid them in making their first assessment and any other future ones that may come up.

The total project calls for an expenditure of $40,000,000, of which $5,000,000 is being furnished by the United States government, a like sum by the state of California, and the balance, $30,000,000 will be raised by assessments against the lands directly benefited by the projects. The first assessment, now being made, will cover, incidental, preliminary, general administrative, and engineering expenditures.

At the meetings so far a number of the larger land interests have been represented, either for the purpose of gathering information about the project, or to furnish data that will assist the assessors in their work. Waldo and Waldo, attorneys, represented a number of clients at the meeting at Madera yesterday. Miller & Lux had their representatives at the meeting in Fresno. The attorneys for the Herminghaus estate attended, as did those for the Chowchilla Ranch. Dr. H. O. Breeden of Fresno, and A. L. Dahleren were in person at the hearings, and a number of communications were also received.

The hearings to date have taken on the nature of informal discussions but the assessors stated last night that they felt that they had accomplished a great deal of good. Any information desired about the project can be obtained by addressing W. S. McClatchy of Sacramento, president of the state reclamation board.

REPORT DEATH OF CHINESE BANDIT

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1.—Chinatown here had word by cable today that "White Wolf," the bandit who had ravaged northern China, has been struck down by a chance bullet while raiding a city of Ho Nan province.

The cable message was brief. As circulated in Chinatown, it indicated that "White Wolf" was mortally wounded by a chance bullet and dragged himself to a place of hiding in which his body was later found, presumably after his leaderless band had withdrawn from its raid.

MAC DONALD AVOIDS MONTANA MILITIA

Troops Keep Order in Butte—Four Arrests Made

BUTTE, Mont., Sept. 2. — Butte's first day of martial law was without disturbance. The Montana National Guard occupied the court house and city hall. Headquarters of the state militia were established in the court house with Major Jesse B. Root as chief of staff and judge advocate. At the city hall, Provost Marshal Frank Conley took charge.

Orders were given soon after the militia moved into the business district to arrest leaders of the Butte Mine Workers' Union, the organization formed to oppose the Western Federation of Miners. Four arrests were made late in the afternoon, one of the men being James Chapman, chairman of the jurisdiction committee, and who acted as judge in the deportation of men who refused to join the new union. Chapman had cartridges in his pockets. Three others who were arrested carried revolvers.

Provost Marshal Conley searched the city for "Muckie" MacDonald, president of the union, but he could not be found. He is wanted on charges of inciting riots. The list of men who are wanted was said by Major Roote to be a long one.

The police of Butte and the sheriff's forces of Silver Bow county were ordered by Major Dan J. Donohue, who is in command here, to co-operate with the militia in making the arrests and in maintaining peace. The city patrol wagon was used by the militia in carrying prisoners to the county jail. They are to be tried by the military court with Major Roote presiding.

For the first time in three days, the jurisdiction committee of the new union did not appear at the mines and enforce its order that prohibited non-members from working. For several blocks around the court house the streets were patrolled by militiamen, who prohibited persons from passing through the guarded district. On two sides of the court house gatling guns were placed in the streets. Two machine guns were placed on the roof of the court house also. The state troops will sleep in the court house for the present.

Order of Major Donohue placing Butte under martial law prohibits boys and girls under 18 years from being on the streets at night. Women, unaccompanied, are requested not to appear on the streets. All public meetings have been prohibited but certain organizations will be allowed to meet, if they obtain permits. Theaters are allowed to remain open. One play house, however, decided to close for the week.

The mines of Butte worked as usual, but when the miners came to the surface after completing their shifts, they were searched for dynamite, which they did not use in blasting, from the mines.

PLAN TO PAVE STREET

PORTERVILLE, Sept. 2.—William Young, one of the large property owners of the East Side residence district, announces that he has secured all the necessary signatures for a petition calling for the paving of Oak street and that the petition will be filed with the city council at their next meeing. This means that this fall paving will be done on a large number of additional streets including Cleveland, Second, Oak, Grevilla, Hockett and La Fayette. It is stated Porterville will be the best paved city of its class in the San Joaquin as it is now the best lighted town of its population.

TO EXAMINE INNES

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Sept. 2.—Victor E. Innes and his wife, of Eugene, Ore., in jail here charged with murder in connection with the mysterious disappearance of Miss Beatrice Nelms and Mrs. Elois Nelms Dennis of Atlanta, Ga., will be given an examining trial tomorrow or Friday, it was stated today. Innes today denied that he had seen the Nelms sisters in San Antonio. He acknowledged, however, that he was here in June, the month they disappeared.

Government Gives Notice Being Driven From Capital

PARIS, Sept. 3, 12:02 a. m.—A proclamation has just been issued by the government announcing that the government departments will be transferred temporarily to Bordeaux.

PARIS, Sept. 3, 12:15 a. m.—The proclamation was issued by the minister of the interior, who said the decision had been taken solely upon the demand of the military authorities because the fortified places of Paris, while not necessarily likely to be attacked, would become the pivot of the field operations of the two armies.

The building of supplementary defenses works is proceeding vigorously. Several of the gates of Paris were closed to traffic last night.

The proclamation follows:

"Frenchmen: For several weeks our heroic troops have been engaged in fierce combat with the enemy. The courage of our soldiers has won for them a number of marked advantages. But in the North the pressure of the German forces has constrained us to retire. This situation imposes on the President of the republic and the government a painful decision.

"To watch over the national safety, the public authorities are obliged to leave for the moment the city of Paris. Under the command of its eminent chief, the French army, full of courage and spirit, will defend the capital and its patriotic population against the invader. But the war must be pursued at the same time in the rest of French territory.

"The struggle for the honor of the nation and the reparation of violated rights will continue without peace or truce and without a stop or a failure. None of its armies has been broken.

"If some of them have suffered only too evident losses, the gaps in the ranks have been filled up from the waiting reserve forces while the calling out of a new class of reserves brings us tomorrow new resources in men and energy.

"Endure and fight! Such should be the motto of the allied army, English, Russian, Belgian and French.

"Endure and fight! While on the sea our allies aid us to cut the enemies' communications with the world.

"Endure and fight! While the Russians continue to carry a decisive blow to the heart of the German empire.

"It is for the government of this republic to direct this resistance to the very end, to give to this formidable struggle all its vigor and efficiency. It is indispensable that the government retain the mastery of its own actions. On the demand of the military authorities, the government, therefore, transfers its seat momentarily to a point of the territory whence it may remain in constant relations with the rest of the country. It invites the members of parliament not to remain distant from the government, in order to form, in the face of the enemy, with the government and their colleagues a group of national unity.

"The government does not leave Paris without having assured a defense of the city and its entrenched camp by all means in its power. It knows it has not the need to recommend to the admirable Parisian population a calm resolution and sang froid for it shows every day it is equal to its greatest duties.

"Frenchmen, Let us all be worthy of these tragic circumstances. We shall gain a final victory and we shall gain it by untiring will, endurance and tenacity. A nation that will not perish and which to live retreats before neither suffering nor sacrifice is sure to vanquish."

GERMANS REPORT HEAVY LOSSES

LONDON, Sept. 3, 2:39 a. m.—A despatch to the Telegraph from Copenhagen says that the thirtieth list of losses suffered in the war is printed in the German press. Commenting on it, the statement is made that the losses are very heavy and one instance is given where a whole infantry regiment, which had been stationed at Zatert, is lost.

The forty-third Prussian infantry regiment, is appears, also suffered very heavily, while among the wounded named is General Huffgarten of the Ninetieth Infantry brigade and his adjutant. Both are seriously wounded.

The Mecklenburg Grenadiers sustained important losses and it seems, the Telegraph despatch says, that more than 20,000 Mecklenburg troops have been lost.

CANADIANS EAGER TO GO TO WAR

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 2.—The war spirit is growing in Canada. The militia officials are being overwhelmed by men eager to go to the front. The first call was for 25,000 volunteers from which it was purposed to pick 21,000 to cross the Atlantic.

"There are now 35,000 men in camp at Valcartier, and more coming," Samuel Hughes, the minister of militia, said tonight. "I have just received another offer of a regiment a thousand strong from the United States. This offer comes from a leading man in a southern state, who writes that if allowed to do so, he will bring up a thousand men who are descendents of the best families of English, Irish and Scottish stock in the south."

PETROGRAD NOW ALL THE FASHION

PETROGRAD, (St. Petersburg), Sept. 2, via London, 2:40 p. m.—The name St. Petersburg does not appear in any Russian newspaper today. Thus has been observed the imperial edict changing the name of the Russian capital from St. Petersburg to Petrograd on account of the German form of the name under which the city has been known since its foundation.

Other cities in Russia with German names, such as Schlusselburg, etc., have asked that their appellations be Russianized.

Mourning dresses are increasing in number on the streets of the Russian capital.

U. S. CRUISER AS CHANNEL FERRY

PARIS, Sept. 2, 12:45 p. m.—It has been decided to use the American cruiser Tennessee for the transportation of Americans from Havre to England. The British port will be Southampton. This ferry service will begin as soon as the Tennessee reaches Havre from Falmouth.

The necessity for such a ferry service by the Tennessee is found in the fact that there are so many Americans in France today wanting to get quickly to England that the channel steamers cannot accommodate them all. As soon as it is known when the Tennessee will reach Havre, the French government will arrange for special trains from Paris to move the Americans. There are here today a large number of other Americans who have come from Switzerland and who also want to get to England.

ENGLISH FISHERS STRIKE A MINE

GRIMSBY, England, Sept. 2.—via London, 11:55 p. m.—A trawler was blown up by a mine in the North Sea today and seven of her men are missing. The trawler was endeavoring to avoid one mine when it struck another.

A Danish steamer is reported to have been blown up by a mine, but the nineteen members of her crew were saved by a trawler.

The trawler Steti was sunk by a German warship, according to a telegram received from her skipper, who is at Amsterdam. He reported all hands on board the trawler had been saved.

JAPANESE MAKE A COMPLAINT

TOKYO, Sept. 2.—The foreign office today issued a statement in which the treatment of Japanese in Germany is described. This announcement declares that as early as August 5 the Germans began watching all Japanese in Germany. The Japanese charge de'affaires at Berlin advised his nationals to leave the country; a number did depart, but on the expiration of the Japanese ultimatum the German authorities took into custody fifty Japanese and put them in prison, claiming that this action was taken for their "protection."

The civil authorities gave the Japanese charge permission to see his imprisoned countrymen, but the military authorities refused to let him do so. It was impossible to obtain their names and the American ambassador at Berlin, James W. Gerard, who represents Japanese interests, protested at this situation.

The foreign office statement declares also that after the Japanese ambassador left Vienna the embassy was stoned and several of its windows were broken. This outrage, it says, was a result of the unbridled abuse of Japanese in the Vienna newspapers.

This report comes as something of a shock to the public here, particularly as Germans and Austrians here have been treated with every consideration and courtesy by the Japanese.

GERMANS FILE A PROTEST

PEKING, Sept. 2—The German legation has protested to the foreign office against an infringement of China's neutrality by Japan. The protest followed the landing of a Japanese division at the newly opened Chinese port of Lung Kow, 100 miles north of Tsing Tau.

News of the Japanese landing caused no surprise here, as the Japanese legation several days ago requested the foreign office to remove the limit of the fifty kilometers (about thirty miles) radius prescribed by the Chinese as the fighting area around Tsing Tau.

The foreign office did not comply with the request, but it was understood that the Chinese troops would be instructed not to oppose the Japanese. The officials are described as incensed but afraid of doing anything that might afford the Japanese a cause for territorial or other exactions.

Whether British forces will cross Shantung with the Japanese is not divulged, but the point is much discussed here.

BRITISH MAY PLANT MINES

LONDON, Sept. 2, 5:15 a. m.—The Times' naval correspondent, discussing the fact that the German fleet has so far declined the British challenge to a pitched battle by taking refuge in the expedient of sowing mines in the North Sea, suggests that it may be necessary for the admiralty, which has declined to the German methods in this respect, to take retaliatory measures in the near future.

"We may either have to use mines for the purpose of preventing German mine-laying vessels leaving German ports," says the correspondent, "or we may decide that crews of vessels used as mine layers should be given short shift as pirates."

REPORT GERMAN LINER CAPTURED

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Reports were current here today that British cruisers had succeeded in capturing the Kronprinz Wilhelm, the German liner which has been roaming the seas since her sudden departure from this port a day or so before war was declared between Germany and England.

Sir Courtenay Bennett, the British consul-general here, had heard the rumor and made inquiries during the day, but said tonight that he had been unable to confirm it from any source. The Kronprinz Wilhelm, a North German Lloyd liner, was taken as a war prize to Bermuda, according to the reports.

REGIMENT OF GERMANS FLAYED

LONDON, Sept. 2, 4:30 a. m.—The correspondent of the Daily Mail at Boulogne reports that a regiment of German infantry has been cut up and almost completely destroyed by the allies.

"Since Friday night," he says, "a large body of German troops has been surrounded in a forest which is being fiercely bombarded on all sides by the allies.

"Heavy slaughter occurred during a two days' battle, which finally ended with the retirement of the Germans, who left large numbers of dead and wounded on the field. The losses of the allies also were heavy."

JAPANESE EMBARK AT NAGASAKI

SHANGHAI, Sept. 2.—Travelers who arrived here today from Japanese ports are responsible for some remarkable statements regarding the military activity of Japan. They declare that from their estimates, no fewer than fifty transports are loading 100,000 Japanese soldiers at Nagasaki, and they relate that some of the troops believe their destination to be Marseilles. The Japanese consul here denies any knowledge of these reports.

ANTI-TRUST BILL PASSES SENATE

Six Republicans and One Progressive Vote With Majority

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—The Clayton anti-trust bill, to supplement the Sherman law, which will complete the administration trust legislative program for this session of Congress, passed the Senate today. The vote was 46 to 16. Seven Republican senators, Brady, Clapp, Cummins, Jones, Kenyon, Norris and Perkins, and Senator Poindexter, Progressive, voted for the bill.

The bill provides fines and imprisonment for officers of corporations convicted of offenses against the trust laws; prohibits exclusive and tying contracts which restrict independence of purchasers; prohibits holding companies where their effect is to lessen competition or create monopoly and makes illegal two years after the passage of the act interlocking directorates in competing corporations, any one of which has capital of more than $1,000,000. It also forbids the interlocking of railroad directorates with corporations dealing in securities, railroad supplies or contracts and liberalizes procedure in injunction and contempt cases.

Sections of the House bill relating to price discrimination and unfair competition were stricken out in the Senate.

Labor, agricultural and horticultural organizations, not conducted for profit, are exempted from the provisions relating to monopoly.

The maximum penalty fixed for violation of the provision preventing exclusive contracts is $5,000, or one year imprisonment, or both. The provision against holding companies would not prevent common carriers from acquiring branch lines where there is no substantial competition.

Interlocking

Sections relating to interlocking directorates are made effective two years after the passage of the act.

Directors of railroads, under the terms of the bill, cannot be interlocked with corporations dealing in securities, railroad supplies or other articles of commerce or contracts for construction, maintenance, etc., to an amount of more than $50,000 in any one year, unless the purchases are made after competitive bidding under regulations of the Interstate Commerce Commission. A penalty of two years imprisonment and $25,000 fine is fixed.

Another provision makes a felony for officials of common carrier corporations wilfully to misapply or permit misapplication of the funds of the corporation, the penalty being not less than $500 fine or imprisonment for not less than one or more than ten years, or both.

The section dealing with court procedure provides that no injunction shall issue between employes and employers in labor disputes unless necessary to prevent injury to property or property rights and no such order shall prohibit the right of employes to strike or peacefully persuade others to do so.

Disobedience of writs subjects offenders to contempt proceedings, the accused in direct cases being granted trial by jury.

President Wilson will delay his selection of the members of the new trade commission until after the measure has been harmonized with the Clayton bill by the conference reports. He has not considered any names as yet.

GOVERNOR TO OPEN HIS CAMPAIGN TOMORROW

Eshleman Is to Appear With Him at Oakland Meeting

Fredericks' Nomination Gives Strength to Johnson

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—Governor Hiram W. Johnson will begin his campaign for re-election at a mass meeting in Oakland tomorrow night.

Immediately after the Oakland meeting in which the governor will sound the Progressive battle-call for the campaign of 1914 he will jump with his campaign party into Santa Clara county for two days of vigorous campaigning in the thickly-populated valley on the south of San Francisco bay. Day meetings will be held in the orchard towns, with a mass meeting in San Jose Friday night and one in Palo Alto Saturday night.

It is more than six weeks since the governor has been on the stump and with the people of Alameda county crowding by thousands into the largest available hall in Oakland, he will unfold the doctrine of Progressive government in a high-pressure speech that will get the final campaign under way with crackling enthusiasm.

John M. Eshleman, president of the Railroad Commission, who has received a triumphant endorsement from the rank and file of the Republican party in the tremendous vote by which they made him the Republican nominee for lieutenant governor, will appear with the governor at the Oakland meeting.

The meeting is to be under non-partisan direction, and prominent Republicans and Democrats of Alameda county by the score will serve as vice-presidents.

Governor Johnson will set out on his final fight to maintain Progressive government in California, backed by a tremendous wave of popular approval of his administration as governor, and an overwhelming sentiment that the primary election has pointed with sure prophecy to the practical certainty that the great bulk of voters in California will re-elect the Johnson administration.

The nomination of John D. Fredericks for governor by the old guard of the Republican party, led by Harrison Gray Otis of Los Angeles, who put Fredericks into the fight, has crystallized the belief that Johnson will be re-elected.

One of the most significant developments of the after-primary days has been the flocking of Republicans to the Johnson standard since the nomination of Fredericks.

Many of the chief supporters of Francis V. Keesling have come out with public statements that they will not swallow a candidate of Fredericks' stripe, and will work for the re-election of Governor Johnson.

Republican for Johnson.

John H. Dumbrell, foreman of the last grand jury in San Francisco, a prominent business man, president of the Young Republican Clubs of San Francisco, and one of Keesling's most staunchest supporters, said a few days after the primary.

"I am a Republican, have always been a Republican, and will continue to be a Republican. I will not support Captain Fredericks for governor. I shall do all in my power to re-elect Governor Johnson, and I think that the true supporters of Keesling ought to do the same."

William N. McCarthy, former supervisor, a member of Keesling's committee, has made a similar statement. Robert Cords, Jr., who was Keesling's advance campaign manager, has denounced Fredericks and declared himself squarely behind Johnson. Many other Keesling supporters have done the same, and scores of Keesling workers are telling their friends that they will not stand for Fredericks.

Rudolph Spreckels, Republican, who has been identified with many large movements for civic progress, has issued a statement, saying:

"The Republican nomination having gone to John D. Fredericks, the candidate of the reactionary leaders of my party, I will give my support to Governor Johnson.

"I fully expect to see the reactionary politicians and the special privilege interests use every known trick and device to mislead and deceive the people in the coming campaign in the hope of electing Fredericks.

"I therefore urge all citizens who desire to protect the common good to be on guard and ready to combat every move that may be made by organized greed to defeat Hiram W. Johnson."

TO SHOW HEREFORDS AT SACRAMENTO FAIR

Prime West Side Stockers to Be Exhibited By Simon Newman Co.

NEWMAN, Sept. 2.—The West Side will be thoroughly represented at the State Fair in Sacramento. The Simon Newman company will take a choice bunch of Herefords, the best of the big stock that they have in their possession. It is more than expected to bring back the first prizes and colors as this year's choice of show animals will be the very best from this company.

Quite a large number of rimrods went out after doves yesterday and several brought back the limit. The conditions and quality of doves are of the best this season.

Judge T. S. Walden is seriously ill at his home and there is no improvement in his condition. The family have all been summoned to his bedside.

Mrs. T. Dalby is also bedridden with a serious affliction and she is reported to be no better.

T. E. Eastin has purchased two acres from Mrs. T. E. Walden and he expects to build immediately 6 fine residences. The lack of sufficient scholars at Arestumba necessitates him to move to town to educate his children. Mr. Eastin is a successful stock and grain farmer.

Dr. G. H. Bartman and family returned from a month's vacation at Santa Cruz.

Edgar Mills of the Linura Stock Farm has been transferred to the Knoxon ranch, and Mr. Wallie of the Knoxon ranch will take his place.

Earl Bisbee has resigned from the management of the California Central Cannery. He will leave shortly with his family for San Francisco.

Next Friday the Woman's Improvement club will hold their first fall meeting.

The Simon Newman grain warehouses are reported to be more than filled with grain. They are stacking the grain on the outside as they have no room inside.

Robert Neezel of Cottonwood is suffering with a fractured leg, owing to the horse becoming unmanagable and throwing him on the ground with great force.

Mrs. E. R. Trefts and children are home from spending the summer months at the Bay cities.

BEGIN WORK UPON STATION GROUNDS

PORTERVILLE, Sept. 2.—Members of the maintenance of way crews of the Southern Pacific railroad are at work at the grounds of the new passenger station in D street and within a comparatively short time all the preliminary work will be completed on extensive parking of the property. Driveways have been laid out and the grounds are being levelled for lawns and flower beds. The Porterville station, it is stated, is considered by the company officials one of the finest on their system and it is said that particularly elaborate plans in the beautification of the grounds are to be carried out without delay.

TAKE MOVIES OF CATTLE FEEDING

PORTERVILLE, Sept. 2.—Arthur Kaiser, who is the official photographer for the Tulare county Board of Trade, is here this week, taking moving pictures of various Porterville district industries and is also preparing to take a number of films of the orange industry when the season opens. Yesterday in the Paplar district, where he took a number of views of the cattle feeding enterprises in the alfalfa section where a number of large bunches of beef cattle are being finished for the block.

TO GIVE CANDIDATES' BALL

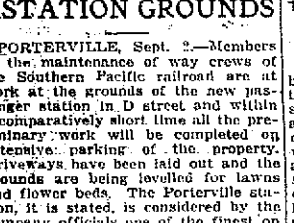

FIREBAUGH, Sept. 2.—A candidates' ball has been arranged for and will be given at El Capitan hotel in that place Saturday, September 5. Constable Thos. Brown and Justice Isaac Myers are in charge of the arrangements and have extended a general invitation to all in the community to attend.

AWARD HIGHWAY CONTRACT

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 2.—The State Highway Commission has let the contract for the portion of the road in Kern county from the southern boundary to a point 2.3 miles south of Rose station. The A. C. McLean Construction company of San Francisco got the contract for $63,004, the state to supply materials worth $4,235.90. The engineer's estimate was $86,135.23.

Good Time Now For Blood Health

The Skin is Working Hard to Cleanse the Body

Take Full Advantage of This

When you perspire freely see that your blood is assisted by S. S. S. the famous blood purifier.

The action of S. S. S. in its rush to the surface of the body causes the process of nutrition to so prepare all those impurities in the blood that they are easily expelled. And as fast as they are removed new materials from a purified blood stream are supplied to make a clear, smooth, outer skin of fine texture.

It is in the summer time, by the aid of S. S. S. that you naturally and quickly get rid of those harmful irritants that gather to cause rheumatism, catarrh, blood risings, eczema, boils and other forms of impure blood.

In a splendidly illustrated book, "What the Mirror Tells" you will learn about the wonders of the skin and what is required to keep it healthy. But first get a bottle of S. S. S. at any drug store and then write for the book to The Swift Specific Co., 104 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Beware of any attempt to sell you something in place of S. S. S.

Porterville People Have Live Interest in War Across Ocean

PORTERVILLE, Sept. 2.—Many Porterville people have a live interest in the European war. Mrs. Anton Konda, wife of Councilman Konda, has seven brothers with the German army on the French frontier. George A. H. Farmer, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, has a brother with H. M. S. Colossus with the first battle squadron of the English navy and a brother with the Royal Field Artillery now in France. Gerald Lumley, insurance broker, has a brother who is acting as interpreter with the intelligence department of the English army in France. Leon Graux, orange grove owner of the Deer Creek district, has gone to New York to sail with the first list of French reservists, leaving his wife and family here to look after their property interests. Jack Blaye, a sheep owner and veteran resident if this district left yesterday for San Francisco to join French reservists. There are scores of Porterville people who have more distant relatives fighting with the various armies now at war.

OVERRULES DEMURRER IN SUPERVISOR SUIT

Judge Clark of Ventura Decides Kern Officials Must Stand Trial

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 2.—The Kern county Board of Supervisors will have to stand trial in the ouster suit against them, for Judge Robert Clark of Ventura has overruled the demurrer presented by their attorney, Fred E. Borton, and set Friday as the day for hearing the case.

Judge Clark made known his decision by long distance telephone. Stating that they desired an early and speedy trial, the supervisors seem to be using every effort to prevent a trial at all, not only questioning Judge Farmer's eligibility in hearing the case, but demurring to the complaint and otherwise trying to delay proceedings.

DEMANDS PAY FOR RENT OF BUILDING

Turlock Council and Owner of Meeting Place Are in Dispute Over Ownership of Property

TURLOCK, Sept. 2.—N. O. Hultberg, owner of the building in which the city offices are located, last night served notice on the city council that at the expiration of the city's lease of the building, October 1, the rent would be $500 per month, payable in advance. Hultberg's ultimatum is the result of the action taken by the council at the August meeting when his claim for $130 for rent for the month of July was held up. There has been some question as to whether Hultberg or the city owns the property, and the council determined to pay no more rent until the matter was determined in the courts. It is understood that the city will remain in possession of the building until the question is settled, notwithstanding the possibility of having to pay a large amount of accumulated rent at $600 a month.

ABOLISH DISTRICT AUDITOR'S OFFICE

TURLOCK, Sept. 2.—The board of directors of the Turlock irrigation district has abolished the office of field auditor, which has been held for the past six years by George D. Macomber. This is understood to be in line with a policy of rigid economy which the new board is determined to pursue. The duties of field auditor, which consisted chiefly of purchasing supplies for the district, will probably be combined with those of general manager if the board decides to create that office.

SCHOOLS TO HAVE SLIGHT INCREASE

PORTERVILLE, Sept. 2.—School will start in Porterville next Monday and the last three days of this week will be given over to registration of students. Owing to the large increase in the high school population it is anticipated that a large number of applicants for admission to classes will be disappointed. The grammar grades will have ample room despite a large increase in that department as well. This year a kindergarten department is to be added for the first time in the history of the secondary institution.

LIVERY BARN IS BURNED IN OROSI

OROSI, Sept. 2.—Fire at 9 o'clock this evening destroyed the large livery barn owned by Mr. Gurin. The loss will reach about $5,000. The owner discovered the fire in time to remove all the horses and most of the equipment. About 18 to 20 tons of hay was destroyed. The origin of the fire is unknown.

DOVE HUNTING IS ATTRACTING MANY

SELMA, Sept. 2.—If Selma were not known to be in absolutely neutral territory, one would be led to think the city bombarded on all sides, for the army of outgoing dove hunters have been firing on all sides as fast as they reached the city limits. The birds have been very plentiful, and the hunters' aim apparently has been good, and scarcely a home was without its dove dinner today. Almost every hunter reports getting the limit.

CORDWOOD BURNS FROM GRASS FIRE

PORTERVILLE, Sept. 2.—Fire which started from an unknown cause in grass and brush on the Kelly ranch in the Woodville district yesterday, burned up nearly fifty cords of wood, causing a loss of about $200. This morning a fire started on the same property and jumping a fire guard in the McKenzie place burned about twenty-seven cords of wood belonging to D. J. McKenzie. It is believed that the fire was started from something thrown from a passing auto.

Prominent Fowler Couple Are United in Matrimony

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Magill (Anna G. Matthews), whose marriage was solemnized last evening at Fowler.

FOWLER, Sept. 2.—The wedding of Miss Anna G. Mathews to John D. Magill took place this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Kinnee. Mrs. Kinnee is a sister to the bride. The father of the bride, Rev. J. J. Mathews, formerly pastor of the Fowler Baptist church, but now pastor of the Baptist church at Sanger, performed the ceremony, and gave the bride to the groom. After the wedding the couple went away for a short honeymoon trip. Their destination has not yet been learned. The bridesmaid was Miss Vera Mathews, a sister of the bride; while the best man was Paul Magill, a brother of the groom. The Kinnee home was beautifully decorated. Dainty refreshments were served. The invited guests were limited almost entirely to members of the two families, Mrs. Lucinda Stratton and her two daughters, Hattie and Nellie, friends of the bride, and Miss Eva McClurg and Mr. I. D. Neel, friends of the groom, comprising the following: Mrs. M. A. Magill, Miss Opal Magill, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Harrah, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Allison and family, Paul Magill, Rev. J. L. Mathews and wife, Miss Vera Mathews, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Kinnee and family, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Jolly, Mr. Vincent and family of Selma, Dr. Geo. Paul Vincent and wife, Selma; Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Paul and family, of Monmouth; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ressel, of Fowler, M. G. Long and daughters Fern and Alice, of Hanford; Mr. and Mrs. Chester Howe, of Hanford; Mr. and Mrs. Roy R. Ressel, of Fresno; R. W. Briscoe and wife and family, of Malaga; John Muggs and wife and family, of Fresno; Miss Kittie Mugg, of Fresno, and Leslie Mugg of Fresno; Walter Briscoe, of Malaga; Ernest Briscoe, Mrs. H. Kinnee and daughter Bernice, of Sanger; Grace and Gladis Edwards, of Parlier.

LINDSAY IS SOON TO START BIG REVIVALS

Tabernacle to Be Built for Dr. Floyd John Evans of Chicago

LINDSAY, Sept. 2.—The local Christian church is arranging to construct a large tabernacle on the corner of Honolulu street and Gale Hill avenue, to be used for a special evangelistic campaign. The meetings will be in charge of Dr. Floyd John Evans, evangelist, formerly of Chicago. Among the assistants will be Prof. A. C. Cassity of Kentucky and W. Earl Smith, who has led all the singing for the great Baptist assembly at Long Beach; he has also been assistant pastor of the First Baptist church of Pomona. The meetings will begin the 10th of this month and with this able company great meetings are assured. All the churches have been invited to participate.

LIGHTS MATCH TO FILL AUTO TANK

Auto and Garage Is Destroyed With $3,000 Loss; Boy Escapes Injury From Explosion

PORTERVILLE, Sept. 2.—Mrs. H. E. Peery's garage and touring car were destroyed last evening in a fire which started when one of her small sons struck a match to see what progress he was making with filling the gasoline tank. The loss will reach $3,000, on which there is some insurance. The lad who was the cause of the damage escaped without injury.

IS BADLY INJURED IN ARIZONA CITY

PORTERVILLE, Sept. 2.—Word was received today from Phoenix, Ariz., that Clark Semitton, son of Mrs. S. J. Semitton, pioneer resident of the upper Tule river district, was severely injured in an accident there. No particulars were given other than that the young man suffered fractures of both legs and that his condition was regarded as grave. It is expected that Mrs. Semitton will leave for the southwest tomorrow.

ENDEAVORERS TO HELP DRY FIGHT

TULARE, Sept. 2.—The Christian Endeavor Societies of the Congregational and Christian churches will each hold special programs next Sunday evening as a beginning for the week during which money for the dry fight in California is to be raised. During next week, beginning Sunday, each member of the Christian Endeavor in California has been requested to lay aside one-tenth of his or her salary as a fund for the dry campaign and this request will be observed in Tulare.

LINDSAY, Sept. 2.—A meeting was held this evening under the auspices of the highway commission, at which the proposed plan for laterals was discussed similar to the plan outlined at Dinuba and Woodlake, and favorable comment elicited. A meeting was held at the club house in Strathmore this afternoon. These along with other east side towns seem favorably disposed to the proposed road building plan for improvement of the orange grove route with connecting laterals across the county.

TURLOCK VOTES FOR BONDS TO BUY PARK

TURLOCK, Sept. 2.—The election for park bonds resulted in 413 votes for the bonds and 188 against. This was 12 more than the necessary two-thirds, and insures a park for the city close to the new depot, which is to be erected soon by the Southern Pacific.

The voting of these bonds is in compliance with an order of the State Railroad commission whereby the Southern Pacific Railroad company is required to erect a new depot in this city at a cost of not less than $10,000, provided the city acquires and parks block 6, which adjoins the depot site on the east. The property belongs to Mrs. Josephine Ettinge of Spokane, Wash., and the city has obtained an option on it at $13,500, which will leave $2,500 for the cost of parking.

DINUBA PACKING HOUSE RESUMES

Stewart Company, Closed for the Past Two Weeks, Is Running With Full Crew; Dinuba News Notes

DINUBA, Sept. 2.—After having been closed for the past two weeks, the Earl Fruit Company's house at this place has reopened with a full crew. The management announces that it will likely have a steady run from this time until the Emperor season opens.

A. R. Pugh, who resides west of town, recently brought to the Chamber of Commerce rooms several stalks of corn which measured over thirteen feet in height. Each stalk carried well-developed ears.

The Stewart Fruit Company's house at North Dinuba completed its summer's work yesterday. This was the first house to open and one of the last to close.

One hundred dollars from less than one acre of roasting ear corn is the record established by J. G. Smith, who lives west of town. This crop was planted in the nature of an experiment, and it is needless to say that the acreage will be increased next year.

RIVERBANK NOTES

RIVERBANK, Sept. 2.—Engineer B. Swearinger of Richmond is now on Engineer Truax's run out from Riverbank during the latter's absence in the East.

A soldier special passed through here this morning on No. 7, carrying 114 recruits.

The Santa Fe chief official of the scrap division is here this week checking up in the yards.

Mrs. A. A. Moore has returned from a visit to San Francisco and other coast points.

Paul Laurensen of the Santa Fe was transferred to Tehachapi this week.

Roadmaster Culverhouse was here yesterday on official duties.

Ed. Donnelly, a Santa Fe employe, left today for San Francisco. He leaves in a few days for Galveston, Texas, where he will remain a short time before sailing for the New England states for a visit at Bridgeport, Conn.

Carl Clifton has left for San Francisco, where he will reside.

Storehouse Keeper J. A. Brackett leaves in a few days for Albuquerque, N. M., where he will join his wife in a visit to old friends.

Earl Snodgrass, who has been promoted to firing, was transferred to Fresno this week.

C. H. Giller has returned from Hot Springs and is again on duty at the shops.

Mrs. Folsom, wife of Day Yardmaster Folsom, left yesterday in company with her daughter to again take up her residence in Los Angeles.

PORTERVILLE, Sept. 2.—Miss Sadie A. Cole, who was injured in the automobile accident in which her brother, Glenn Cole, lost his life near Springville yesterday morning, was brought to a hospital here today. It is said that she has but slight chance for recovery, owing to the gravity of her injuries. The body of her brother was brought here yesterday and is being embalmed to be sent to Pennsylvania.

SECOND INQUEST HELD BY CORONER

Inquiry Into Death of Woman Who Was Drowned in Kings County Elicits No New Facts; Notes

HANFORD, Sept. 2.—At the second inquest into the accidental death of Mrs. E. E. Shore, held today before Coroner Rice and District Attorney Irwin, no new evidence was introduced, and the jury returned a verdict in concurrence with the first verdict, that of accidental death by drowning. The second inquest was held because of rumors of foul play.

NEWS BREVITIES OF ORANGE COVE

ORANGE COVE, Sept. 2.—Mrs. Johnson of the Pasadena colony entertained quite a number of friends Monday evening in honor of her brother, Mr. Charles Thompson of Long Beach, who is now a guest at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Nichols of Dinuba were over Sunday visitors at the Glen Cairn ranch.

John Scott, Sr., of La Habra, was looking after his interests on his ranch here a couple of days last week.

The Presbyterian congregation here have expressed a desire for the continuation of the student Rev. Earl Cochran of Dinuba, as their minister for the coming year. Every one speaks of him in the highest terms, and the vote in making a selection was unanimous for him.

Mayo Kelley and his family are again at home after a sojourn in the mountains and a few days in Dinuba.

The first passenger train on the new line made its appearance in the Cove Tuesday morning. It was a train load of officials on a tour of inspection, viewing the road and buildings, before taking it over from the construction contractors. Everything now seems to be in readiness for a regular passenger schedule.

Mine Host Van Zandt was a business visitor in Dinuba Tuesday.

Neil Sheridan has turned his mail route over to a deputy for a couple of weeks, while he is hunting for large game in the higher Sierras.

The Barber-Sheridan party returned from their outing in the hills last Friday.

Miss Joseph Barber, the postmistress, is again behind the bars of the delivery window. If appearances count for anything her vacation did her much good. Every one in the crowd report a delightful time.

BUYERS DECLINE TURLOCK BONDS

TURLOCK, Sept. 2.—G. B. Blymyer & Co., of San Francisco, the successful bidders for the $15,000 issue of bonds for fire equipment, have notified City Clerk Webber that they will not take the bonds and have requested the return of their certified checks. The firm gives as its reason the opinion of their attorneys that the bonds are invalid owing to a discrepancy between the ordinances calling the election and the subsequent ordinance providing for the sale of the bonds. In the first instance it was set forth that there should be thirty bonds of $300 each, and ten bonds of $600 each. The second ordinance provides that the forty bonds should be of the denomination of $375 each. As Blymyer & Co. were the only bidders for the bonds, it will probably be necessary to call another election.

PRECIADO IS HELD TO ANSWER AT HEARING

Offers No Evidence and His Bonds Fixed at Same as Formerly

MADERA, Sept. 2.—The preliminary hearing of Charles F. Preciado, charged with misappropriating funds as tax collector, was held today before Judge J. W. Montague. District Attorney Larew appeared for the prosecution and Raleigh B. Rhodes for the defendant. Witnesses for the state were Carrie M. Hamel, Expert Branch from Fresno and Auditor Honeycutt. The defense did not submit any evidence.

Miss Hamel testified to the payment of $751.03 as taxes on November 30, 1913, and in this connection the delinquent roll was introduced to show that the money had never been credited on the books.

Branch, who is the expert called into the case, showed tax receipts of G. Albert Smith for $86.36, John Wilney for $180.55, Paul Barnes for $11.21, Consolidated Eucalyptus Co. for $183.50 and Miss M. Moran for $152.63, together with one other for $607.83, not credited by the tax collector and marked delinquent on the rolls.

Horace G. Macon, who received the nomination as tax collector at the recent primaries, has been appointed to fill out the unexpired term of Preciado in the office, he having resigned.

Hobble Skirt Will Be Pleaded By S. P. As Defense in Suit

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 2.—Most unique defense is offered by the Southern Pacific railroad in fighting the suit of Mrs. Elnora Sellers for damages for injuries sustained when she fell on the rails in the Bakersfield station last winter. "She wore a hobble skirt," says A. E. Cook, railroad detective, and this is a part of the defense prepared by Attorney F. E. Borton. The latter also claims the rails were slippery with frost, and that the accident was not the company's fault.

MODESTO DRYS TO TENDER LUNCHEON

Plans to Be Discussed to Make Possible 5,000 Majority for Amendment; News Brevities

MODESTO, Sept. 2.—The Stanislaus County Dry Federation will plan a systematic campaign to make possible the federation slogan "The County Dry by 5,000," at an informal luncheon tomorrow at the Coffee Club. The meeting will be largely attended by the executive committee and leading dry workers of the county. President J. P. Corson will preside at the session. In view of the fact that a majority of more than 3,000 was secured at a previous election, it is hoped that the federation slogan may be realized in ovember.

Constable George Davis was acquitted yesterday by a jury in the justice court of a charge of battery preferred by B. Schulman, a pawn-broker, who alleged that Davis entered his place of business August 8, and assaulted him by slapping him in the face. It is understood that only one ballot was taken.

The Central Pacific Railroad company of Utah, with a capital stock of $2,300,000 filed articles of incorporation in Stanislaus county yesterday. The 23,000 shares of the company are held by such well known Pacific coast financiers as the following: Charles Crocker, W. V. Huntington, A. H. Towne, all residents of San Francisco; Thomas Marshall, Harry Drake, John Tiernan, John E. Dooly, J. C. Royle, and Martin Harkness of Salt Lake City.

The Modesto Business college opened yesterday under the management of J. M. Culpepper. The classes include training in stenotype, shorthand, bookkeeping, commercial law and allied subjects.

Ernest Green, a Modesto contractor, has been awarded the general contract for the erection of Lodi's new $100,000 hotel. Mr. Green will start active operations on the building within a few days. Robert Melville of Stockton, has been engaged to superintend the construction work.

Sheriff A. S. Dingley went to San Quentin yesterday with Hubert Kelley, who was sentenced to a term of 18 months for burglary. Sheriff Dingley went on from San Francisco today to Seattle to visit his son, Bert Dingley, who is in a hospital there recovering from injuries received in the Tacoma road race.

CLOVIS BREVITIES

CLOVIS, Sept. 2.—Joel Rolliard and wife, who have spent the summer at Lewiston, Idaho, are home again.

W. M. Foster and wife have returned from Big Creek where Mr. Foster was employed by the Pacific Light and Power company. All construction work has been cancelled for the present and all the men, except the operators, are laid off.

Rev. Aubrey Wilson of Richmond, Calif., has accepted a call from the First Christian church of Clovis and will preach next Sunday at the morning and evening service.

Mrs. A. L. Underwood of Tehachapi is quite seriously ill and has been removed to a Fresno sanitarium.

Rev. J. G. Brendel of Toll House was a Clovis visitor today.

Carl A. Truitt of San Francisco and F. L. Pendery of Sacramento, representing large fire insurance interests, looked over the water supply and fire department equipment today. It is expected that the rates for Clovis and a number of valley towns will be readjusted soon.

The Cato Packing company is working on tomatoes this week, the quality being above the average.

TULAREAN GROWS CROP OF PEANUTS

TULARE, Sept. 2.—A small patch of peanuts grown one mile west of Tulare by James Noyes, a school boy, has proved very successful. The patch contains about 300 hills and each is set with a heavy crop of marketable peanuts. He has contracted for the sale of his crop to peanut venders. His success is taken to mean that peanut growing on a larger scale would be profitable here.

CHESTER H. ROWELL GIVES LECTURE ON WAR AT LUNCHEON

MERCED, Sept. 2.—Chester H. Rowell, editor of the Fresno Republican, stopped over in Merced today on his way home from Yosemite valley, and was the guest of honor at a luncheon at Hotel El Capitan. The booster committee of the Chamber of Commerce took advantage of the fact that Mr. Rowell would be in town today, and asked him to deliver his lecture, which he has been making throughout the state on the European war. Over sixty men and women were present. Mr. Rowell spoke about one hour, and the audience was so interested that he was asked to continue, but was forced to leave to catch his train for Fresno. In giving the causes of the war, he went back one hundred years into history, and said that if he had time he would go still further back, and give earlier history about the events that made possible the present war. He reverted to the time of Peter the Great and Napoleon, and told of the laying of the foundation of Europe's determination to prevent Russia from getting an ice-free port. He also reviewed the formation of the triple alliance, and compared this structure of nations to an arch built of stone, and just as the removal of one stone from the arch would cause the whole structure to fall, so one small break in the European alliances precipitated a war in which all became engaged. He went on to show that the assassination of the crown prince of Austria was the one stone which broke down the superstructure of Europe.

Mr. Rowell is closing pointed out that the United States and the countries of South America, which are protected by the Monroe doctrine, are practically the only countries in the world now at peace.

LINDSAY WILL HAVE NEW CANNING PLANT

Randolph Company to Build One to Replace Burned Structure

LINDSAY, Sept. 2.—The Randolph Fruit company begins the construction of a new packing house this week on the site where the old building was burned a few weeks ago. The new house will be fifty feet longer than the old one and will be modern in every respect. The capacity of the new building will be 15 or 16 carloads per day, with the possibility of packing 20 carloads if necessary. Work will be hurried in order to have it in readiness for the crop, which is rapidly maturing.

NEWS BREVITIES OF STRATHMORE

STRATHMORE, Sept. 2.—Misses Nell and Lydia Buck have returned from their two weeks vacation trip at Giant Forest.

John Wilcox has returned from Long Beach where he spent the summer visiting relatives.

George and Le Land Dyer have returned from their San Francisco and Los Angeles trip.

Harry Buck and Joe Andrews were week-end visitors at El Palmelo.

B. S. Dyer exchanged his ten-acres of orange land with Charles Baldwin of Pasadena. Dyer will remain here for some time but Strathmore will hate to loose these good people.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bergen returned from Camp Wishon after a very pleasant outing.

John Overholtzer returned Sunday to the South where he will continue in his college course.

Robert H. Nicol of the Fresno Republican staff, stopped in Strathmore Monday, making the trip in a machine with several other men.

Mrs. S. A. Chaffle has returned to Strathmore after attending sickness at Lindsay.

Mrs. Eldrige Symons is quite sick with typhoid malaria which was contracted from their mountain trip.

Messrs. Carl Headland, Ward Dean, Clarence Watson and William Stites enjoyed a fishing trip at the Forks Sunday and report a good catch.

Mrs. C. Watson, Mrs. W. Dean and son Carl and J. H. Headland motored to Springville Sunday where they spent the day picnicing.

Miss Nina Brock and Frances Bartlett accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Brock, Mrs. A. J. Blizzard and Dorothy to Porterville to register at the Porterville High school which opens the 7th.

GIVES PRAISE TO TULARE FIREMEN

TULARE, Sept. 2.—W. W. Gilmore, agent for a London insurance company, in Tulare yesterday at the time of the fire at the Jones residence, made public praise of the efficiency of the volunteer fire company. Although the city keeps a big new motor fire truck and driver, yesterday the volunteers answered the alarm almost instantly and Gilmore remarked at this. He was taken to the fire immediately by auto and when he arrived found the first hose in operation and the second being strung. Another man from Los Angeles, who was at the fire, remarked that the work of the company was as good as any he had seen by the paid fighters of the southern city.

TURLOCK RAISES TAX RATE

TURLOCK, Sept. 2.—The city council last night fixed the tax rate for the ensuing year at $1.40. It had been intended to fix the rate at $1.30, but in estimating that rate it was overlooked that the assessment roll included $99,120 worth of corporation property taxed for state purposes only.

The new rate is 30 cents less than that of last year, but as the assessment roll was recently raised 100 per cent, there will be a net increase in taxes of about 60 per cent.

The Perils of Pauline

By Arrangement with Eclectic Film Co.

SYNOPSIS OF PREVIOUS INSTALMENTS.

Sanford Marvin, a wealthy manufacturer of automobiles, has worn himself out by overwork. His son, Harry, and his adopted daughter, Pauline, love each other, but she wants two years of thrilling experiences seeing life before marrying. Her reason is that she is ambitious to be a writer. Old Mr. Marvin asks to see what she has written. While Pauline and Harry are in search of a magazine containing her story Mr. Marvin opens the case of a mummy which has just arrived from Egypt. Raymond Owen, his rascally private secretary, helps lift off the front of the case, but leaves the old man to remove the mummy's bandages alone. Mr. Marvin, during a fainting spell sees the half-exposed mummy come to life, step out of her case, take a bracelet from her wrist and try to force it into his nerveless grasp while her lips whisper a strange message from the remote past.

Restored to consciousness by Harry and Pauline, the old man believes it to be a dream until later he finds the identical bracelet on the mummy's skeleton wrist. He promises Pauline one year to see life, and places her in the guardianship of Owen. A fatal heart attack gives him just time to write on the doctor's prescription blank a brief will. Then he dies. A lawyer tells Owen that he would have permanent charge of Pauline's estate if something should happen to her before marriage. Hicks, a race-track man, and Owen, conspire to kill Pauline. The preceding chapters have dealt with the many efforts of the two to accomplish this.

THE light of a dawning idea came into Owen's dull eyes as he stood watching the disappearing machine. He turned and hastened to the house. Harry had just hung up the receiver of the telephone and had turned to Pauline with a sorry look.

"My office is calling me," he said. "I'm needed there at once. I shan't be able to go to the wedding."

The sight of the happiness fading from her flower-like face filled him with shame of his falsehood and he plunged into a flood of apologies and regrets that might have defeated his play-acting with one who trusted him less. It was the first time in his life that he had lied to her and he was half sorry now that he had done so. Any risk seemed better than this sudden drooping of her bright face, this cruel withering of her happy mood. But he must go through with it now, and if there was apology in the kisses he pressed on her reproachful eyes it was not confessed.

"I am going to the wedding just the same," declared Pauline.

"Of course, you are," he agreed heartily. "Farrell will be back with the car by 5 o'clock."

"But who will chaperon me?" she objected, woman-like, to her own decision. "It would look absurd to take Margaret, and Owen isn't invited."

"You will not need a chaperon going over—provided Farrell gets back," he said as he took his hat from the table.

"You mean you don't believe Farrell will get back," she exclaimed. "You are treating me like a child. You don't want me to go to the wedding just because you can't go."

"Now, don't, don't," he pleaded, as she started to leave the room. "I don't mean anything of the kind. I mean Farrell is the only man who can drive the large car or the roadster safely. There is no reason in the world why he shouldn't get back."

"And how am I to come home?" she demanded, turning again toward him.

"I will call for you in the runabout on my way from New York. Perhaps even I shall be able to arrive in time to greet the happy pair," he added cheerfully. "You'll make my excuses."

She seemed appeased, and Owen, who had stood listening at the door, had just time to glide away before Harry hurried out.

The young master of the house had driven far toward the station before the wily secretary returned to the library.

This time he entered and pretended to be seeking a magazine. Pauline's disconsolate face as he addressed her gave him the excuse he desired.

"Why, Miss Marvin' has anything happened?" he asked in a tone of concern.

"Oh, everything has gone wrong," she cried, almost in tears.

"What do you mean?"

"Harry is called to the city just when we are invited to Sophie McCallan's wedding, and Farrell has taken the limousine for some silly repairs. They'll not get back; I know they'll not. They never do."

"But, Miss Marvin?"——

"Oh, don't try to apologize for him. He cares more for his old business than he does for me. He makes automobiles himself, and yet I can't have enough for my own personal use. I'm sorry I forgave him," she flared.

"You are right, Miss Marvin; it is an outrage."

She looked at Owen in astonishment. It was the first time she had ever heard him venture a critical word against Harry. It affronted her.

"I think it is YOUR fault," she declared, glad of the chance to turn her wrath against a present being. "You are in charge of my estate, are you not? You are the one who should see that I have cars and drivers—everything I want."

"But you know the machines have not come from the town house, Miss Marvin. They will be here to-morrow."

"Well, Owen, it isn't for you to say that what my brother does is an outrage. He does everything for the best."

The loose frame of Raymond Owen hardened. He fixed his eyes upon her face and moved very near to her. Puzzled by his look, she sat still.

"Miss Marvin, Harry is lying to you," he said quietly.

This is from the Motion Picture of "Pauline" by the Famous Pathe Players.
"I'm going to the wedding just the same," declared Pauline.

He and your chauffeur have formed a plot against you. Your car will not be back this afternoon at all."

She sprang to her feet, furious.

"Owen, he still! How do you dare to say such things?"

He moved still nearer, his eyes bulging with the intensity of his purpose. Raymond Owen had found his great moment—His enemy had set his own trap and Owen would see that he should not escape easily. The opportunity to break forever the bond of faith and affection between Harry and Pauline had come. Owen's voice rose almost to histronic power as he poured out his revelations and his denunciations in the startled ear of Pauline.

She was leaving the room, indignant, when he thrust himself before her.

"You must hear me," he said. "I know what I say is true. It hurts me as deeply as it will hurt you, but you must hear of it. I believe I have discovered—by the merest accident—the cause of all your perils. The plots against you have been arranged at home."

"You are mad. I will not listen to you. Let me pass."

"Not until you have heard," he declared firmly. And his blazing eyes held her.

"I was passing the door of the garage only a few moments ago," he went on in a rapid whisper. "I saw Farrell at the telephone. He called the private house number—the number of this phone on the table. You and Mr. Marvin were sitting here. I was so surprised that I stopped and listened to Farrell's words. I could see Mr. Marvin listening at the phone here. Farrell said: 'Mr. Marvin, you are needed at your office. Come at once.' Then he hung up the receiver and came out, laughing. He got into the limousine and drove off towards the city. If he could drive the limousine to the city, could he not drive it to the McCallan's for you?"

He paused briefly for effect. Pauline put her hands to her ears with a protesting cry.

"Don't say it. It isn't true," she whispered. "It is only a scheme of Farrell's to get an afternoon off."

"It is a scheme of Harry's to keep you from the wedding—for what purpose only he knows. It is one of many schemes that have held your life in constant peril. I saw their plan arranged. I saw your brother hand money to Farrell at the door of the garage and they parted, laughing."

Pauline's mind whirled. "I won't believe it! I can't; I can't!" she cried. Doubt and fear and fury mingled in her breast. Weeping tumultuously, she rushed past Owen and up to her own room.

Two hours later, the struggle over, she called Margaret, who bathed her hot temples and dressed her for the wedding. Pauline returned quietly to the library.

"I will be ready to go, she said to herself. "In a little while I shall know if it is true. I will not distrust him until I know."

Harry Marvin, in town, tried his best to make good use of the time he had stolen. But the thought of his well-meant chicanery was heavy on his mind and it was not unmixed with apprehension. After all, Pauline might find a way to go to the wedding. Her determined spirit was hard to curb. Might he not, instead of having averted a danger, simply have absented himself from the scene of danger when he was most needed? His nervousness increased. He found himself incapable of work, and at three o'clock, to the surprise of his clerks, who had thought his unexpected visit must mean an important conference of directors, he called a taxicab and started for Westbury. He had no intention of going to Castle Marvin unless it was necessary. He meant to telephone from Westbury and learn whether or not Pauline had gone to the wedding. If she had not, he would remain away until late. If she had he would follow her.

A few minutes before four o'clock, Farrell, the chauffeur, with his pretty wife whom he had called to share his plot and his holiday, drove up to a rural telegraph office and entered. They were both laughing as Farrell wrote and handed to the operator this message:

"MISS PAULINE MARVIN,
CASTLE MARVIN, WESTBURY.
Blow-out. Can't get back this evening.
GEORGE FARRELL."

"You don't want to say what kind of a blow-out it is, do you?" grinned the operator, glancing out of the window at the epic and span machine.

"If you don't see everything you look at, you'll save your eyesight," replied Farrell cheerfully, as he escorted his wife back to the car.

At the next town he telephoned to the Marvin office in New York. He came out of the booth with a worried look.

"The boss has left in a taxi for home," he said. "Wonder what that means. Guess we better sort of travel along towards Westbury. He might need me."

They changed their course and had driven for some time at an easy rate through the smiling country when the sound of a machine coming up speedily behind caused Farrel to look around. The passenger in the open cab waved his hand and Farrel, saluting, slowed down. The cars stopped, side by side. Harry raised his hat to the young woman.

"You're not going home, are you, Farrel?" he said.

"I heard you'd left the office and I thought something might have happened, and I'd be near enough so you could get me quick."

"Nothing has happened. I'll get along nicely with this cab. You'd better keep a good distance and not come home until to-morrow morning."

"Very well, sir. That suits us fine," Farrel grinned.

The taxi started on and Farrell turned off at the next crossroad.

"He's a great boss, but a queer one," he said to his wife. "It's a queer family all around. I wonder what's being cooked up now."

As the time of the chauffeur's expected return drew near Pauline's despair and anger increased with every moment. As 4 o'clock struck she had to grip her strained nerves to keep from jumping out of her chair. She had long since ceased trying to read. Now she arose and walked nervously out to the garage to ask if any word had been received from Farrell. She found Owen there.

The look with which the secrtary watched her as she talked to one of the men might have fitted gracefully the face of Iago. As he witnessed the mental torture of his lovely prey he might have been muttering, with all the venom of Shakespeare's colossal villain:

"Not poppy nor mandragora,
Nor all the drowsy syrups of the world
Shall ever medicine thee to that sweet sleep
Which thou owed'st yesterday."

As she turned toward him, after her futile questioning, Pauline's grief suddenly mounted to anger.

"It is after four, and Farrell has not returned," she exclaimed.

She had come out to the yard in the exquisite white gown that she was to wear to the wedding, a flashing jewel at her white throat, her hair done regally high. Now, in her anger, she was a picture of fury made beautiful.

But her outburst was interrupted. A messenger boy rolling his bicycle came through the gate and made his leisurely way toward them. She opened the message with nervous fingers.

"Blow out. Can't get back this evening," she read.

She tore the message into pieces, dropped them and stamped upon them with her white slippers.

"It's true, it's true!" she cried, turning desperately to Owen.

He bowed his head as one who had suffered a blow.

"I am terribly, hopelessly sorry—but I knew that it was true," he said solemnly.

Along the drive came the new gardener wheeling a barrow of fresh mold, his rake and hoe lying across it. Pauline's eye fixed itself upon him. "Palmer!" she cried.

The man let fall the barrow as if he had been cut with a whip lash. He looked up and for an instant his dazed eyes seemed to brighten. Then the light was blunted again; he picked up the barrow as if no one had spoken and went on.

Pauline, her anger seemingly forgotten, followed the man. Owen made as if to join her, but she waved him back. He went into the house.

"Bring out the roadster," Pauline called over her shoulder, and, as she stopped beside the gardener, the garage men, bewildered, but used to the kindly vagaries of their pretty employer, sent the machine down the driveway.

"Can you drive an automobile, Palmer?" asked Pauline.

This time the man's eyes did not brighten. He looked at her respectfully, but dully. She drew him to the car and repeated the question. He only grinned foolishly and kept on shaking his head.

"Wait," she said, and, running back to the house, reappeared directly wearing her hat and flowing white wrap. "Come, Palmer, you must drive me to the wedding," she declared.

She made him get into the car and take the wheel. As she got in beside him, his hands fumbled aimlessly with the levers.

"Palmer! Palmer!" she dinned his forgotten name into his ears. "Don't you remember the race, the road, the flying cars, the speed, the speed! Don't you remember the man who was in the lead—the man the crowd cheered for? That was YOU, Palmer, the greatest of all the drivers."

She leaned forward in the seat, arms outstretched as if holding a tugging wheel, eyes set straight ahead, slipped feet threading imaginary levers, graceful body swerving.

He watched her, frowning. A vague purpose seemed to animate the hands groping with the levers.

"Wake up, Palmer! It's time for the race—the Vanderbilt Cup. Kirby and Michaels have started. There's Wharton coming to the line. Don't you see the crowds? Can't you hear them cheering? Palmer! Palmer! * * * Yes, we're coming! * * * Palmer is coming back. * * * Way there!"

He found the self-starter; the engine sounded. He found the clutch and gears. His eyes were shut. The car started slowly and he opened his eyes. Pauline sank back in the seat, laughing and clapping her hands, half hysterically.

"Bravo, Palmer!" she exulted.

The astonished workmen saw them glide through the outer gate. Raymond Owen from his window saw them and rubbed his hands pleasantly. Fate indeed seemed to be favoring his deadly work to-day!

The car swung into the highway.

"Drive faster," commanded Pauline.

He shook his head as if he did not understand. She directed. The machine shot forward.

She saw the listless hands harden on the wheel. She saw him bend over the wheel and fix his vision on the road. She thrilled at the miracle she had wrought.

More speed, and the wind blew her cape from her shoulders; the dust beat in her face. She merely tightened her veil and sat silent.

"Take the first turn to the right," she called in his ear as they neared the crossroad. He did not slacken the speed.

"It's a sharp turn; slow a little, she cautioned. He did not seem to hear her.

She placed her hand sharply on his arm. He drove past the crossroad unheeding. He thrust the speed to the last notch.

Pauline tried to stand up in the seat and seize the wheel. He thrust her back with one hand, not even looking at her. He was leaning far over the wheel now, his eyes glazing. She could see the beat of the blood in his temple.

"Stop! Stop! You are on the wrong road. You will kill us both!" she screamed in his deaf ears. She tried again to wrest the wheel from him, but this time he held her fast after he had flung her back. She sat helpless, terrified. She realized now what she had done. She had raised up a Frankenstein for her own destruction. She was being driven by a madman.

As they took the curve outside Westbury village another car filled with men and women fairly grazed them. The women screamed and the men shouted wildly after them. But they flashed on.

Down the hill at Hanley's Mills the pace grew even greater. From the west prong of the road fork at the bottom a taxicab shot into view. There was a shout of warning, a rattle and creak as the taxi swerved, safe by inches from the rush of the maniac driver.

Pauline, blinded by the dust, could not see the occupant of the cab. She did not know that it was Harry who was now frantically pressing his driver to pursuit. He had recognized her in a blur as they passed. He knew the roadster.

On the skirts of Clayville a group of farmers and a constable were arguing a roadside dispute. Pauline could see the figures leap into the road waving arms; she could hear them shouting. The figures spattered to either side as Palmer drove through the group.

They sprang back into the road, cursing and shaking their fists, only to be routed anew by the rush of the taxicab following.

The roadster straightened out on the ledge of Scragg Hill. In spite of the curve and the precipice Palmer held his speed. His daring, his utter mastery, stirred a kind of admiration in Pauline. But the death she saw looming stirred anew her courage. She wrenched her arm free of the Titanic clasp. She stood up and swung her weight against the man, grasping for the wheel. The car swerved toward the cliff, but he jerked it back. He struck at her brutally with his free hand. She fell in the seat, but returned, desperate, to the encounter. She caught the wheel. She tried to command it, but his strength drew the other way. The machine shot at the abyss. There was a crackle as the wooden guide fence was splintered under the wheels. There was a crash——. Harry, leaning from the taxicab behind, uttered a groan. The roadster had gone over the cliff.

A hundred feet down the rock-gnarled hillside they found them. They took Pauline from the clutch of the mad driver, who was unconscious. His fall had broken hers and it was only from fear that she had fainted. Harry, pressing the taxi driver's flask to her lips, saw her eyes open and his cry was like a prayer of thanksgiving.

Another motor party had come round the hill loop to aid. The men were carrying the limp form of Pauline to the machine Harry lifted Pauline to carry her to the taxicab. To his abasement he felt her hands press him away. He thought she had not yet recovered, that she believed herself still in the grasp of the madman. He placed her on her feet and looked at her questioningly.

Without a word she turned from him and started up the road.

"Pauline!" he cried, hastening after. "What do you mean? Don't you know me it's Harry."

She kept on without turning. He caught her by the arm. "Don't you know me, your brother?" he pleaded.

She turned, trembling. "You are not my brother," she blazed. "And I did not KNOW you until to-day."

"You are hurt and ill, dearest. Come, let me take you home."

She walked on up the road.

"But where are you going?" he demanded.

"I am going to the McCallan wedding. You tried to keep me away by your base trick, but you cannot do it."

Now he understood. His head dropped in sincere shame. "I know; I know," he groaned. "It was the meanest and most useless thing. But I did not think it was safe for you to go to the wedding. I am sorry to the bottom of my heart."

"Good-by," she said coldly, walking on.

"But you can't go like that," he exclaimed, pointing to her torn and draggled clothes, her unfastened hair."

She stopped, a little dismayed, surveying herself sadly, but she said: "It is better to go in friends whom I can trust." And again she moved away.

As gently as he could athwart her angry struggles, he lifted her in his arms and carried her to the taxicab. He placed her in the cab and followed, closing the door. As the machine started he began to pour out his repentance. She would not even answer, but sat with averted face, weeping and trembling.

At last she became quiet. He drew her tattered wrap closer about her shoulders and put his arm around her so that her head rested against his breast. A moment later, looking down, he was surprised to see that she was smiling like a tired child.

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS---Evidently Angeline Will Have No Cinch

By F. Leipziger

WRITES SECOND ARTICLE ON TRAINING FOR BIG MARATHON

C. H. Tooze Tells of Proper Method to Get Into Condition for Republican Cross City Race; Runners Should Take Long Walks

Long walks as the means of bringing the feet and large muscles to condition, the kind of shoes to be worn and dieting are the subjects discussed by C. H. Tooze, physical director of the Fresno Young Men's Christian Association in his second article on the proper manner in which to train for the Fresno Republican Cross City Marathon which is to be held September 29, as the opening feature of the Fresno District Fair.

A number of athletes from the local Y. M. C. A. and the Normal school have already started training for the marathon.

Following is the second article on training:

Long walks concluded by a brisk run and a quick shower, should constitute the major portion of the preliminary road work in preparation for the marathon. This course of training will gradually work the big muscles into condition for the harder work that will be expected of the muscles later on.

Most essential is the care of the feet. The long walks will gradually harden the feet, preventing them from blistering during the grind of the work to follow. Many a contestant has been forced to drop out of a race because of unsuitable shoes. It is of the most importance that runners are euipped with proper foot wear and more important to have your shoes well broken in.

The course, the majority of which is over city streets, eliminates spikes and tennis shoes. The ordinary baseball shoe with spikes removed is the best for a long distance race.

MUST HAVE GOOD STOMACH.

Too often the runner depends too much on his legs for success. It is great to have a fine pair of legs but without a good body above them, good legs are of little use.

Probably more marathon runners fail to finish their race because of a weak stomach than from any other causes.

Build up the body. Road work is but a part of the schedule you should follow. Take exercise for the abdomen and back. Practice deep breathing when walking.

BE CAREFUL WHAT YOU EAT.

Eat plenty of good wholesome food. Satisfy your increased appetite without stuffing. There is such a variety of good healty food that it should be no hardship to cut to a minimum the consumption of pastries and highly seasoned foods. Cocoa should be substituted for coffee. Regularity in eating is important. Do no strenuous road work until at least two hours after a meal.

BOSTON LEADS LEAGUE.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 2—Two victories for Boston over Philadelphia today, the scores being 7 to 5, and 12 to 3, and the defeat of New York at Brooklyn enabled the former to take the lead in the National league race.

Boston hit the ball hard in both games and Rudolph and James were given almost perfect support, a muff by Gilbert being the only error charged against them. Philadelphia used three pitchers in the first and four in the second contest.

In the second game Boston hammered Tincup off the rubber in the first inning and Oeschger was taken out after the first four men to face him in the second session had singled. Rixey filled out the inning. Mattison yielded three runs in the third after which he settled down. Evers was unable to play owing to stomach trouble and his substitute, Dugey, split his finger in practice, Whitted going to second base. Scores:

First Game.

CINCINNATI 4, CHICAGO 3.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 2—Bunching of hits combined with Vaughn's wildness enabled Cincinnati to win. For Chicago today by four to three. For five innings Vaughn pitched excellent ball, but in the sixth he gave two bases on balls, hit another man and this, with a sacrifice fly, two singles and a three base hit by Niehoff gave Cincinnati their four runs. Yingling who started for Cincinnati, was hit hard. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Chicago	3	10	0
Cincinnati	4	6	1

Batteries: Vaughn, Humphries, and Archer: Yingling, Schneider and Clark.

BROOKLYN 9, NEW YORK 2.

BROOKLYN, Sept. 2—New York dropped out of first place in the National league today, losing two to six, to Brooklyn, which advanced to fifth position. Marquard was knocked out of the box in five innings, the Brooklyns making eleven hits, including five doubles and a triple. Pfeffer had the Giants blanked until the seventh. Score:

ANGELS JUMP TO SECOND POSITION

Defeat Seals By 6 to 1 Score; Thirteen Hits Off Baum

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—Los Angeles jumped into second place today when that team defeated San Francisco in the second contest of the current series, 6 to 1. Baum, the Seal pitcher, was touched up for thirteen safeties, including a pair each of triples and two-base hits.

Failures of the Seals to hit pinches lost the game. San Francisco players were kept particularly busy in the field, handling 24 assists successfully. The Seals' two errors were due to muffed fly balls. Score:

RAIN HALTS GRAND CIRCUIT RACING

Lassie McGregor Takes Two Heats of 2:14 Trot; $10,000 Stake

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 2.—Rain interrupted the racing at the Grand Circuit meeting held in connection with the New York state fair this afternoon. Five heats were contested but none of the four numbers on the program were completed.

Two heats were raced in the Empire State stake of $10,000, for 2:14 trotters and in both Lassie McGregor, the favorite, was beaten, Margaret Druin taking first place in both. In the second heat Lassie Mcgregor almost got the distance flag, after behaving badly on the get-away.

In the Syracuse stake, for $5,000 for 2:11 pacers, King Couchman, the favorite, was pressed hard by Napoleon Direct in each of the two heats. In the first heat Geers was in fourth place at the three quarters pole, and was within inches of the winner at the wire, the last quarter having been paced in 29 1-2 second.

Peter Stevens had a procession in the third for 2:08 pacers. Garrison pulled up in the stretch to save Murphy, with Marietta, from the flag.

FAVORITES WIN IN MANCHESTER GOLF

MANCHESTER, Vt., Sept. 2.—Play in the second round of the National Amateur Golf championship tournament at the Ekwanok Country club, today ran true to expectations and every favorite was victorious. The present title-holder, Jerome D. Travers of Upper Montclair; two former champions, Walter J. Travis of Garden City; W. C. Fownes, Jr., of Pittsburg and Robert a Gardner of Hinsdale, and the former open champion, Francis Ouimet, amateur champion of France, were among the eight survivors.

Interest in the day's competition centered in the match between Travers and Eben M. Byers of Allegheny, who yesterday defeated Charles Evans, Jr. Travers led by two up at the end of the morning round, and in the afternoon played conservatively, while Byers hooked his drives and had other faults. Travers won, 5 up and 4 to play.

ED HOOD OF FRESNO LEAVES ON STATE TOUR

Ed Hood of Fresno left this city yesterday on a 715-mile bicycle tour through the northern part of the state. He is a member of the Eclipse bicycle club and will represent this club on the tour. Although his present itinerary only calls for 715 miles, he may go 1,000 miles before he returns. He will go first to Sacramento, thence to Lake Tahoe, and on to Truckee at the summit of the Sierras. He will return by way of Placerville and Folsom to Sacramento and from there to San Francisco by way of Stockton. Hood will return to Fresno by way of the Livermore valley.

GRAIN

CHICAGO.—Bullish estimates on the Canadian crop and on the yield of spring wheat in the United States tended today to make the price of wheat advance. The market closed firm, ⅝@1c above last night. Corn scored a net gain of 1½@1¾c and oats of ½@⅝ to ¾c. Provisions finished unchanged to 22½c down.

Canadian official estimates put the wheat crop of the three northwestern provinces at 127,000,000 bushels as against 209,000,000 bushels harvested a year ago. Private experts figured afterward that the spring crop region in the United States would produce only 224,000,000 bushels, a falling off of 12,000,000 bushels compared with the government report last month.

Corn advanced briskly after wavering throughout the first half of the session. Estimates that the crop condition was 68.5 as against 16.4 last month that farm reserves were only half as large as a year ago formed the incentive. Activity continued among exporters of oats. Foreign purchases amounted to nearly 1,000,000 bushels.

Close: Wheat — Sept., $1.31; Dec., $1.14¾; May, $1.31¾.
Corn—Dec., 75¾; May, 75½c.
Oats—Dec., 52½c; May, 55½c.
Pork—Sept., $20; Jan., $22.50.

Trusting To Memory

GOOD telephone service depends vitally upon care in calling telephone numbers. A wrong number called causes loss of time to you, to the party called and to the operator. Every instance means inconvenience to all concerned, which is wholly avoidable.

It is not the loss of time to you alone or to the operator that concerns us most, but it is the annoyance to the party called. Your mistake cannot be explained to him, and the Telephone Company is held responsible for your error.

Consulting the current issue of the telephone directory, instead of trusting to memory; giving your number clearly, and quickly correcting the operator if she misunderstands your call, will greatly increase the efficiency of the service.

PIERCE & ANDERSON

Our Exchange Department has issued the following bulletin of exchanges, which contains some of the most interesting items ever collected for publication:

If what you want isn't here, remember our exchange lists are the most complete in Fresno, and it will pay you to consult them.

Have you some city property to trade for 5 acres improved to peaches and alfalfa? The owner of this property will also sell, for only a part down, and the balance on very easy payments.

One of our clients has 7½ acres, improved, with plastered house, in good condition, that can be had in exchange for most anything worth the money. This place is near Olive Avenue, and close to car line. Make some offer if interested.

We have just listed a dandy close-in 10 acre place, improved to peaches and alfalfa, with good 6-room bungalow and large barn. Owner will take part of lots as first payment on this property, balance easy terms.

If you have some city property to exchange for 10 acres, east of town, improved with small house, pumping plant, barn, etc., we will be able to make you a good deal. The sooner you can act, the better for your bank account.

Our exchange lists include a number of excellent ranch properties, for which the owners want Bay property. Ask our exchange specialists about these.

MILITIA TO ENCAMP AT LATON FOR SIX DAYS

Major Will Kelly of This City Will Be in Command

Company H of Laton May Join Companies C and K of Fresno

Fresno county National Guardsmen will hold a six-day encampment at Laton starting Saturday, October 3, according to the announcement yesterday made by Captain Fowler of Company K. Companies C and K of this city and probably Company H of Laton will participate in the militia meet. Captain Fowler expects an attendance of 150 men and officers.

The target range of the Fresno guardsmen is located at Laton and for this reason the encampment will be held there. It was first hoped to mobilize the county militia at Big Creek, but when estimates of the cost of maintenance and transportation were submitted to the state department controlling the guards, they were turned down.

The militia is entitled to a three day encampment every year at the expense of the state, but it was announced that finances were too low to permit an encampment of such expense as would be entailed in going to Big Creek. Battalion officers were given permission, however, to extend the encampment three additional days without expense to the state.

Major Will Kelly and staff of the Third battalion will attend and Major Kelly will be in command. Target shooting will be the principal work of the encampment, although battalion drill will also be held.

Captain Fowler stated yesterday that he believes the annual state shooting tournament of the National Guard was called off because of orders from the War Department in Washington. While he has had no official notification that such was the case, the report comes from a reliable source and is believed to be true.

Just why the War Department should object to the tournament being held at this time is not known.

PLAN ZOOLOGICAL GARDENS FOR ROEDINGS

Proposition Will Be Up Before Commission Next Friday

Pair of Buffalo and Two Antelope May Be Added to Three Elk

A proposition to provide for Zoological Gardens at Roeding Park will be placed before the board of Park Commissioners at a meeting called by Secretary Charles Chambers for next Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the City Hall. W. C. Claybaught, superintendent of Roeding Park, who has just returned from a trip through the north, will submit the matter to the board.

Claybaught's plan is an outgrowth of the decision of the commissioners to accept from Miller & Lux three elk for the park. One of the reasons for Claybaught's trip north was to visit the Miller & Lux ranch near Los Patas and select Fresno's three elk from the herd of 1000 which now roam the Miller & Lux vast lands.

While in San Francisco Claybaught visited Golden Gate park and was offered two antelope, a male and a female, which are now in the San Francisco park. At the commission meeting Friday he will submit the proposition and suggest plans for providing for accommodations for various California animals which may be added to the Roeding Park group from time to time.

His idea is to arrange for space for animal paddocks, cages and also bird houses. His ambition is to establish at Roeding Park Zoological Gardens modeled after those of Golden Gate park in San Francisco, though smaller, of course. His preference of animals and birds for the gardens would be those native to California.

Secretary Charles Chambers of the Park Commission is lending his enthusiastic support to the proposition. He has heard that there is a group of antelope on some ranch in Tranquility and he intends to ascertain the truth of the report before the meeting Friday and learn if it will be possible to secure a pair of antelope for Roeding Park.

Three elk, a male and two females, have already been selected from the Miller & Lux herd and they will arrive in Fresno about the last of this month. Their home will be located in one of the park eucalyptus groves which will be fenced in. The trees will be cleared from a part of the grove and alfalfa will be planted to provide the future food supply. Until such time as the alfalfa is grown the elk will be fed on hay from the supply grown at the park.

TO PLAN BATTLE AGAINST "DRYS"

Fresnans Will Attend Meeting of California Grape Protective Association in North

W. T. Mattingly and Thomas Brazil, officials of the Fresno County Grape Protective association, will leave Saturday for St. Helena, Napa county, where they will attend a session of the California Grape Protective association next Monday. Plans will be outlined for a statewide campaign to defeat the proposed prohibition amendment. The campaign of the county associated will be modeled after that of the state organization and probably will be started on the return of the delegates from St. Helena. Mattingly is president of the Fresno County Grape Protective association and Brazil is secretary.

FRESNO SHIPS HER FAIR EXHIBITS SUNDAY

Carload of Material to Be Sent to Sacramento

County to Have Greater Floor Space Than Ever Before

Representatives of the Fresno Chamber of Commerce will begin the installation of the county exhibits at the State fair in Sacramento early next week. Sunday J. M. Swift, assistant secretary of the Chamber of Commerce will leave in charge of a carload of installation material, and William Robertson, the secretary, will leave either Tuesday or Wednesday to supervise the setting of the Fresno county exhibit, and later to have charge of the display during the eight days of the fair.

All this spring and summer the full field force of the chamber has been gathering materials for this year's exhibit at the Sacramento fair, the perishables being either processed or shipped direct to the Capital City and there placed in cold storage. The other materials and the remainder of the exhibit matter gathered, has been stored in Fresno, and will be shipped from here.

At the present time, in Sacramento, there are more than a hundred cases of fruits and perishable vegetable specimens in storage, that will have to be unpacked and arranged for display. The grasses, grains, and general construction material that will be used in arranging the Fresno exhibit will leave Sunday in Mr. Swift's charge, and at Sacramento all of the materials will be consolidated for the big Fresno exhibit.

This year Fresno county has taken more floor space than at previous fairs. The floor space is nearly 1,200 square feet and the exhibit, in its entirety, promises to be very attractive. Many features that have not been seen before will be shown this year, and as the fruits are above the average, even for this wonderful section of the state, the showing made by Fresno county, is certain to attract a great deal of attention.

Secretary Robertson and his assistant, Mr. Swift, will remain at Sacramento until the fair is completed, and will not likely make their return until about September 21. Mr. Swift has been busy of late making a unique grain bungalow, the entire little house being built out of Fresno county grains. The roof is thatched with the straw and the walls are woven out of the same material.

Literature advertising Fresno county will be distributed, this being of the customary high standard set by the chamber, and Messrs. Robertson and Swift will be on hand at all times to explain the features of Fresno county.

OCEAN TRAVEL IS IN BETTER SHAPE

Subjects of Friendly Or Neutrals Can Get Passage

Many of the long closed lanes of travel over the seas between the United States and Europe have been opened since the beginning of the war, and at the present time Fresno railroad officers are able to take a certain amount of prepaid reservations between European points and here. This arrangement was only definitely made yesterday, and already several reservations have been booked.

The only difficulty is with the Germans. They are finding a great deal of difficulty in travelling across the seas in either direction. Though San Francisco, Los Angeles and several other Pacific coast cities have reported that they are sending a number of French reservists home, none have left Fresno to date as far as the ticket agents are aware. Several of the trans-Atlantic lines have resumed their sailings, though their dates are disrupted to a great extent, but they will not receive subjects of belligerent nations for passage, reserving the right to accept but those friendly to the flag that they fly.

Subjects of neutral nations are experiencing no great difficulty in getting transportation either way across the Atlantic, but their number is constantly on the decrease. It was reported, without any confirmation, however, that numbers of Italian and Turkish reservists have been making their way home as they have expected trouble. As there has been no call for the reservists of either of these two nations as yet, this calls for a great deal of discount of these statements.

Great Britain has made a call for practically all of her reservists, and they have a comparatively simple task, as all that they have to do is to cross the Canadian line, and then they are furnished with their transportation to their mobilizing centers.

MADISON OPPOSES "DRY" MOVEMENT IN STATE

Writes Reasons From Point of View of Raisin Grower

Unless Second Crop Goes Into Brandy, 25,000 Tons More Raisins

James Madison, manager of the California Associated Raisin Company, has written the following letter to the California Grape Protective Association, giving his reasons, from the point of view of a raisin grower, why the proposed prohibition amendment should be defeated in November:

Fresno, Cal., April 4, 1914.

Mr. H. P. Stoll, Secretary California Grape Protective Association, San Francisco, California.

My Dear Mr. Stoll:—

Seeing that you are to address the public throughout the state on the question that will be brought before them at the next election in reference to voting the state dry, I wish to call your attention to the effect this will have on the raisin industry, which, as you know, involves a much greater value than the grapes that are used for wine purposes.

The acreage planted here for raisin purposes is practically twice as great as for wine, and it would appear that you should not fail to impress that upon the voter of the state, that they are jeopardizing this very extensive and valuable industry in an indirect way. So few realize this unless properly explained to them. The raisins are mainly made from the Muscat grapes, and what is known as second crop Muscats are practically all used for distilling into brandy. If brandy cannot be manufactured, it would mean at least 25,000 tons more of raisins annually.

The Feherzuges, Malagas, Rose of Peru and Palermino, and perhaps other varieties, will go into raisins, and naturally if the grower of these varieties of grapes could not sell them to the wineries they would dry them and take whatever they would bring, and, being of an inferior quality as a raisin, the lower price would eventually drive every raisin producer out of business. There is now enough Muscats, Thompson Seedless and the regular varieties of raisin grapes grown to produce all the raisins that can be consumed in the United States, and therefore, it would not alone compel the grower of wine grapes, but also the raisin varieties, to pull out their vines until such a point was reached that the over-production of raisins would be stopped. This would most seriously affect the districts where grapes are grown, and that is the principal part of this state. The direct loss would be so enormous that it would certainly be a catastrophe; the indirect loss may even be greater.

The beauty of our vineyards is one of the great advertising attractions that this state has and that should never be forgotten.

I know that you will appreciate my statement and I know you will state these facts to the public as they really exist. I cannot believe that the belief some people have will lead them so far as to destroy millions of dollars' worth of property, accumulated by the farmers during almost a lifetime, and then not accomplishing any particular good. The person who desires to drink will get it in some shape or other.

Yours very truly,
JAMES MADISON.

OUT ON PROBATION FOR SEVEN YEARS

C. W. Ellsworth May Engage Only in Approved Employment Lines

C. W. Ellsworth alias Elliott, accused of passing various checks when he had no money in bank to meet them was released on probation yesterday by Judge Austin, his parole to continue for seven years. It is the longest probation period that has been visited on a defendant in a Fresno court since the probation law went into effect. The suspended sentence is conditional that he commit no violation of the law and that he engage only in such employment as may be approved by the probation officer.

The seven-year term was in accord with the recommendation of Probation Officer Sessions because of Ellsworth's doubtful and vacillating character. Even this recommendation was admittedly made with hesitation, but on the added suggestion which the court did not act upon that the wife sign a written pledge to faithfully report any misconduct on his part, and aid to accomplish his reformation.

Probation Officer Sessions reported to Judge Austin his doubt of the probability of Ellsworth making good on probation because, according to his own story, he has made a big part of his money through doubtful transactions. He was described as one of the kind that are determined to make money easy and has seemingly no intention of giving value received. On the other hand because he has been faithful to the wife and because she is faithful to him and is almost an invalid unfitted to do any labor which would enable her to care for herself and child the case becomes a sad one. It was also taken into consideration that he has been a long time in jail and it is possible that he has had enough of this kind of punishment.

SPECIAL RATES FOR GREAT BALL

Special excursion rates will be sold by the railroads operating in the San Joaquin valley on September 11 and 12, with a return limit of September 14, to give residents of the valley an opportunity to attend the All-States ball that is to be held at the St. Francis hotel the night of September 12. This big social affair, one of the largest to be held in San Francisco this fall, is for the natives of states outside of California, and is being promoted by the various state societies organized in San Francisco. A number of residents of Fresno, natives of states in the East and South, have already announced their intention of attending, and will make the trip.

Is Your Plumbing Up-to-Date?

—Does your plumbing equipment represent your good taste and your prudence as thoroughly as your other household furnishings?
—Why not? The sanitary equipment of your house is a matter of the greatest importance. The health of your family demands that your plumbing fixtures should be clean and sanitary. The cost of modern equipment is quickly repaid in the increased comfort afforded, and in the freedom from repairs and trouble.
—We install "Standard" guaranteed fixtures, unequaled for beauty of design and for day in and day out—wearing quality. Let us quote you prices on new equipment—Phone Kutner's Plumbing Dept., 3700—

SPANISH WAR VETS SUPPORT OAKLANDER

Hope to Secure National Convention of 1915 for San Francisco

Members of General Jacob H. Smith camp, United Spanish War Veterans, of this city, are greatly interested in the election which will take place today at the eleventh annual national encampment of the order which is being held in Louisville, Ky. The local camp has no member at the session but has endorsed for Commander in Chief, F. A. Forester of Oakland. He is attending the convention.

Forester's principal reason for wishing to become Commander in Chief, said Harry Josephs of this city yesterday, is because he wants to win for San Francisco the 1915 national encampment and he believes that if elected Commander in Chief he will be able to bring such legislation about. Forester is a newspaper man of Oakland and Past Department Commander of the state. He will have four opponents at the election tomorrow.

It is planned, said Josephs, to arrange to hold the United Spanish War Veterans and the G. A. R. national encampments at the same time and place hereafter. The Grand Army of the Republic is now in session in Detroit, Michigan and it is certain that the 1915 encampment will go to San Francisco. Spanish War Veterans of the West are united in their efforts to get the 1915 session for San Francisco.

Now Is the Time To Buy
CARPETS and RUGS
Our stock is very complete. We have received most of our Fall shipments, and are showing all the new patterns and colors. And most important of all
Our Prices Are Still the Lowest
Our factories inform us that they have supplies on hand for only sixty days, or thereabouts. On account of the European war, the supply of wool and dyes has been greatly diminished, and prices will without doubt increase materially. Buy now. You will effect great savings. Don't delay.
